20 Die, 38 Hurt In Mine Accident

DEATH TOLL MAY MOUNT

SYDNEY MINES, N. S. Dec. 6.—(UP)—A mine train carrying between 250 and 300 men broke loose today, plunged a mile down steeply inclined tracks and smashed to pieces deep in the diggings of the Princess colliery which extends out under Sydney harbor.

Five hours after the accident it was established that at least 20 men had been killed. Rescue crews, still digging into the wreckage, feared they would find additional bodies. Thirty-eight injured had been taken to hospitals and some of them were in serious condition. The train was composed of 26 small, box-like cars with high sides. Each carried from 10 to 15 men. The train was controlled from the surface by a cable which was paid out to let the train roll slowly down steep, cork-screw passages that led to the bottom of the workings, three miles from the entrance.

Cable Breaks
The cable parted when the train was less than half way down. The cars careened through the nar-

MILITARY TRAINING FOR CCC PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. (UP)—High army and war department officials said today that they favor military training of Civilian Conservation Corps workers.

Growing tension in Europe, enlargement of European armies and air forces, added to apprehension over economic penetration of South America by totalitarian nations were cited as reasons for building up this country's fighting reserves.

See Opposition
The officials said they expected that any proposal to train CCC recruits would encounter opposition in Congress.

Rep. May, D. Ky., chairman of the house military affairs committee, said he favored the proposal when it was made on a previous occasion, but declined to define his current stand.

"I am going to confer with naval and war department officials."

Former Resident Of S. A. Called

Josephine Teegarden, 79, former resident of Santa Ana and long time resident of California died at 724 East Palmyra avenue, Orange, Dec. 5, 1938, following an extended illness. Miss Teegarden had resided in California for the past 39 years, coming to California from Chicago, Illinois when she was a young woman. Survivors include a sister-in-law, Mrs. F. W. Teegarden of Lake Forest, Ill., and one niece, Miss Georgia Teegarden, also of Lake Forest, Ill., two cousins, Miss Kate Clark and Mr. Donald Clark of Orange.

The funeral services will be announced later from Winbigler's Memorial chapel. Interment will be at Fairhaven cemetery.

DECLARE BRASS PLATE SIGNED BY FRANCIS DRAKE AUTHENTIC

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—A time worn brass plate, inscribed in Elizabethan English and found in 1936 near San Quentin prison, was identified today by a committee of experts as the plate left at Drake's bay by Sir Francis Drake when he discovered California in his ship Golden Hinde in 1579.

Announcement that the plate was authentic and not a hoax was made at a meeting of the California Historical Society—appropriately enough, in the Sir Francis Drake hotel—by Dr. Colin G. Fink of Columbia university, authority on electrochemistry. He supervised a two-year analysis of the plate.

Nazi Plane Crew Saved

MANILA, Dec. 6.—(UP)—A German good will monoplane which flew to Tokyo in record time made a forced landing in the sea off the Philippine Islands today on a Tokyo-Manila flight, first stage of its return flight to Berlin.

Fishermen rescued the members of the crew as the plane sank. The five aviators and one passenger aboard were brought to Manila by launch. They said that they would dismantle the plane after it was hauled from the water and ship it to Germany.

Motor Trouble
The four motored plane, the Condor, which made a record round trip flight between Berlin and New York last August, had flown from Berlin to Tokyo in 46 hours, 43 minutes.

20,000 RETURN TO JOBS; STRIKE ENDS

FLINT, Mich., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Temporary settlement of a strike at the Fisher body plant No. 1 returned 20,000 workers to their jobs today, but after-effects of the dispute forced the Pontiac motor car factory to close, throwing 5000 men out of work.

The Pontiac plant will resume operations, probably tomorrow when a normal production rate is resumed by the Fisher plant which supplies Pontiac with bodies.

Accept Terms
Employees at the plant voted last night to accept terms of an agreement between the United Automobile Workers and General Motors Corporation, of which the Fisher concern is a subsidiary.

Union and corporation officials scheduled negotiations in Detroit in an effort to reach a "sound and equitable basis" for putting piece workers in two departments on day wages.

Henry Wilson, president of local 531 of the union, said the workers reserved the right to strike again Friday if results of the negotiations proved unsatisfactory.

The agreement was reached by Homer Martin, president of UAW, and officials of General Motors yesterday, and the strikers were supposed to have returned to work late yesterday afternoon. Wilson

Set Sentences For 13 Women

TEHACHAPI, Cal., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Thirteen prisoners, including one woman convicted of murder and another sentenced for manslaughter, will come before the board of paroles for the California institution for women Dec. 10 for fixing of sentence or for parole hearing, it was announced today.

Minnie Roderick, serving a life sentence for the murder eight years ago of her husband, Frank Roderick, in San Mateo county, seeks parole.

Maria Marshall, sentenced Feb. 11, 1935, from Marin county, for the slaying of her husband, Fred Marshall, will hear her sentence fixed under a manslaughter conviction. The court sentenced her to from one to 10 years.

Record Heat Wave To Continue

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—(UP)—A continuation of the winter heat spell that has broken all time Southern California records was forecast today.

Yesterday's 90 degrees in San Bernardino was the hottest December day there on record. The previous mark was 89 degrees in 1917.

Los Angeles had 86 degrees, three below the all time record for December set in 1897.

Huge Airliner's Flight Delayed

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Fourteen persons aboard an American Airlines passenger plane were delayed temporarily here last night when their tri-motored ship was ordered grounded for repairs.

Removal of a portion of the landing gear by mechanics checking the plane caused one wing to sag to the ground. Air line officials ordered the craft held and another plane was sent from Los Angeles.

Abduction Story Probed

Mary Brown, 18, (left) whose story of being abducted near her Oxon Hill, Md., home has presented police with a baffling mystery, is shown recuperating in bed at her home with her 15-year old sister, Lucy, comforting her. Maryland police plan to quiz Mary again in an effort to garner additional clues to the two men she said kidnaped her on a lonely road near her home.

Italian Students Riot; Shout Demands For French Colonies

ROME, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Hundreds of university students, including women, held angry anti-French demonstrations in main streets today, shouting:

"We want Corsica! We want Tunisia! We want Djibouti!"
Djibouti, chief town of French Somaliland, is the terminus of the only railroad to Addis Ababa, capital of Ethiopia, and Italy is forced to use the French owned line.

Police and soldiers in impressive numbers guarded all approaches to the French embassy. They closed off the Farnese Square on which the embassy is situated, and permitted only persons who lived or worked in it to approach.

Crack carabinieri, grenadiers, Alpine troops, and picked policemen guarded the embassy building. Groups of between 10 and 20 students started small anti-French demonstrations this morning as they went to classes.

Show Anger
But as they left class at noon for lunch, the students massed in hundreds to show their anger toward France.

They paraded to such hotels as the Excelsior and Ambassador, and pointing to signs like "cafe" and "The Dansant," shouted:
"Put them in Italian! No French words in Rome!"

They got as close to the French embassy as they could, crowding into side streets, and shouted for Corsica, Tunisia and Djibouti. They then went to the Venice Square in hope that Premier Benito Mussolini might appear on the balcony from which he often speaks. He did not appear and after waiting 10 minutes the students left.

Small demonstrations by groups of students and young Fascists were reported all over the city. The demonstrators wandered through main streets, shouting slogans against France, and demands for Tunisia.

One group saw an automobile with a German license plate on it, and shouted "Heil Hitler!"

State Has Record Rum License List

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Five years after repeal, California has more liquor licenses than any other state in the nation but its drinkers are more temperate than during prohibition, enforcement officers and liquor men said today.

All queried in a survey agreed that conditions have improved vastly since the speakeasy, "blind pig" and bathtub gin were relegated to the limbo of the prohibition era by the mandate of the voters.

People are tapering off in their drinking, the experts agreed, but there are certain liquor control aspects they would like to remedy, such as restriction of licenses and sale of liquors to minors.

Mooney Ends Long Legal Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Thomas J. Mooney, former labor leader serving life imprisonment for the Preparedness Day bombing here in 1916, reached the end of a long series of legal attempts to gain his freedom today.

Turned down in his final bid to have the U. S. Supreme Court allow him to file an original petition of habeas corpus, Mooney announced his intentions of filing a petition for a state pardon.

Through this move it appeared likely he would gain his freedom through the sympathetic attitude of Governor-elect Culbert Olson.

JUDGE MAY JAIL SCRIBE

Judge James L. Allen today declared he would order the arrest of Frank (Pete) Cooley, photographer and reporter for The Register, and cite him for contempt of court for taking two pictures of Charles Calhoun, who is being tried in Judge Allen's court for the murder of Clyde Dillinger.

The judge made the statement following an order issued this morning by the court that no photographs of any type shall be taken in connection with the case.

Ordered To Get It

Cooley had been ordered by his superiors to get a picture of Calhoun "in the courtroom if Judge Allen will permit, and elsewhere if the judge denies the right to take the photo in the courtroom, but to get the picture."

Cooley subsequently took two pictures, one of Calhoun and deputies bringing him

BULLETIN

VENTURA, Cal., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Leaders of the Associated Farmers of California predicted today organization of "The Associated Farmers of America" probably will be effected here during a three-day session of various units of the California Farmers' group.

Praise for the prorate program by C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, and a defense of price fixing for milk producers by the State Department of Agriculture made by A. A. Brock, director, were the highlights of the 71 convention of the California Farmers and Fruit Growers meeting in Ventura yesterday.

"The prorate is simply a postponement of the law of the survival of the fittest. All that a prorater does is to maintain the farmer's business while he is going through a period of readjustment," Teague said.

Favors Prorate

In addressing the 500 delegates, many from Orange county, Brock declared: "In areas where the fair trades practices are set up by law and in areas where the law has been operative, we believe producers have been better off than in areas without a stabilization and marketing plan."

Brock declared growing of agricultural products "without consideration of needs or demands means piling up commodities which must go to waste."

Resume Work On State Building

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Work on the actual structure of office building No. 3, designed to house four state departments, was resumed today after being held up for five weeks while concrete foundations and pilings were "setting."

Cost of the new structure was placed at $1,400,000. State governmental divisions which will occupy the building are the board of equalization, franchise tax department, veterans welfare board and department of professional and vocational standards.

PIONEER RESIDENT OF SANTA ANA DIES

With the death last night in her home at 2010 Greenleaf street of Mrs. Mary Jeffrey at the age of 83, came the passing of another Orange county pioneer. For Mrs. Jeffrey and her husband, the late William Jeffrey, had been prominent in the growth and progress of this community ever since they came here in 1897.

Mrs. Jeffrey's passing was not unexpected to her family as she had been in failing health for the past few months, with her condition becoming serious some three weeks ago. A member of the Christian Science church, her final rites will be in charge of that organization.

Born in Scotland

Born November 12, 1855 in Morebattle, Kelso, Roxburghshire, Scotland, Mrs. Jeffrey spent her girlhood and young womanhood in Scotland where she and the late William Jeffrey were married and where all their children but one son, Robert Jeffrey and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Jeffrey Wilson, were born. They came to California from Edinburgh and settled first in Antelope Valley in 1884. When they came to Orange county in 1897, they bought the ranch home at Irvine where they lived so many years, and which Mrs. Jeffrey disposed of only when she came into Santa Ana in 1929.

Mrs. Mary Jeffrey Wilson has been making her home with her mother during her last illness. The other daughter is Mrs. Margaret Jeffrey Johns of Beverly Hills, while surviving sons are Alex and William Jeffrey Jr. of San Fernando; George Jeffrey, former Orange County supervisor, and Robert Jeffrey, both of Irvine. In addition Mrs. Jeffrey is survived by a niece, Mrs. Abbie Turnbull of this city; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

"JIMMY'S" FAILURE TO MAKE CHURCH CONTRIBUTIONS HIT

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6.—(UP)—The Rev. Howard Stone Anderson of Washington's First Congregational church, testifying before the house committee investigating un-American activities, today criticized James Roosevelt, son of the President, for failure to contribute to the support of churches.

Citing young Roosevelt's income tax return, Anderson noted that the President's son failed to make a contribution to any church and added "actions like his are responsible for the loss in support for benevolent organizations."

Should Set Example

Anderson contended that persons prominent in public life should set the example for a return to the Christian faith and told the committee:

"A young man of great political prominence (James Roosevelt), with exceedingly large income, recently caused his income tax reports for several years to be printed. Since they were printed at his request, I suppose there is no objection to a comment on them. "One thing interested me as a minister. In not a single year had he contributed to a church. And in only one year did his gifts, out of income running into five fig-

PLEDGE TO OUTLAW WAR

PARIS, Dec. 6.—(UP)—The foreign ministers of Germany and France today signed a cream colored sheet of sheepskin parchment pledging the two historic enemies to meet at a conference table instead of resorting to war for settlement of their disputes.

The document—signed by Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and French Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet on the spot where the Briand-Kellogg anti-war treaty was initiated a decade ago—may profoundly affect future European relations. But only future developments will demonstrate whether it will become an historic document or a political gesture.

Outlaw War

Its formal purpose is to pledge both nations to outlaw war as an instrument in settling disputes. It bears no time limit. Hence the two powers agree to recognize their present common frontier along

HUSBAND OF MOVIE STAR WINS DIVORCE

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Harrison O. Nelson today was granted a default divorce decree from Bette Davis, the film star, after he testified his wife preferred her career to marriage.

Nelson, childhood sweetheart of the actress, recently gave up his own career as an orchestra leader so that he assertedly could be with his wife.

Unexpected

He told Judge Thurmond Clarke that Miss Davis frequently had said her screen profession was the most important thing in her life.

Nelson's appearance in court today was unexpected. Ordinarily a default matter would not have been heard until approximately a week from today. Nelson explained in an affidavit that he had to go to New York late this afternoon where he had a position in an advertising firm awaiting him, and his request to try the case today was granted.

"In your complaint, Mr. Nelson, you said your wife read all the time," James E. Flanagan, Nelson's attorney, said.

"That is true," Nelson replied.

"She read to an unnecessary degree and refused to put down her

Change Date For Governor's Ball

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Date for the grand ball to be staged in connection with inauguration of Culbert L. Olson as governor has been changed from Jan. 2 to Jan. 5, Sacramento chamber of commerce officials in charge of the affair announced today.

A. S. Dudley, secretary of the chamber, said the postponement was ordered to accommodate Hollywood motion picture officials and stars who wished to attend the celebration. They reported inability to be present on the earlier date, he explained.

Olson will take the oath of office as governor before a joint session of the senate and assembly on Jan. 2. There will be no other public inauguration ceremony. Ralph W. Evans, executive secretary to the governor-elect, said.

JURY REPORTS OPEN VERDICT

An inquest jury at the Winblitzer Memorial funeral chapel yesterday afternoon gave an open verdict in connection with the traffic death of James Vernon Cheyne, 25, popular Santa Ana employee of the Kraft company, Sunday night.

The truck, belonging to the Kraft company and in charge of Mr. Cheyne, was cut in two parts when it collided with terrific impact against the rear of a Santa Fe railroad train at the 101 highway crossing a mile east of Tustin. The jury, in charge of Coroner Earl A. Hays, reported that, from the evidence, it could not be determined who was at fault.

Masons To Elect Officers Tonight

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Officers are to be elected tonight at a meeting of Orange Grove Lodge No. 295, F. and A. M., at the Masonic hall. J. J. Hutchins will preside. Refreshments are to be served and a "round table" will follow, according to an announcement made by the secretary, H. Z. Adams.

BLODGET FINALLY LOSES IN EFFORTS TO BLOCK OIL PACT

Supported by Mayor Fred C. Rowland alone in a vote of city council last night, City Atty. Lew Blodgett lost in his announced efforts to protect the city welfare and possibly save he city loss of some oil production profits.

For the third consecutive council meeting, the city attorney has sought to block an official action of council to grant W. F. "Bill" Croddy, realtor, a contract by which Croddy will have control of 15 acres of the city's dumping grounds west of the city to re-lease to large oil companies. Croddy said he would pay $450 per year to the city for the rental privilege.

He "Still Doesn't"

The city attorney didn't—and still doesn't, he said, like the idea. He thinks the city should wait, perhaps can get a better rental rate and better royalty later—if oil be found in the area.

With Mayor Rowland dissenting and Councilmen Ernest Layton, Joe Smith and William Penn agreeing, Blodgett's idea was thrown into the discard. The trio gave Croddy a contract. Croddy now may proceed with his re-lease ideas. Layton offered several amendments to the contract on behalf of the city but, according to Blodgett, not sufficient to the city's best advantage. Blodgett believes that, if the contract be right, it should have more

Writes Opinion

He referred to Layton's amendments as "so-called amendments." "I have been handed what purports to be a final draft of an oil lease of the city dump property to W. F. Croddy," the city attorney wrote in a "supplementary opinion." "I have heretofore informed you verbally and in writing that I did not feel that the sum of $450 was sufficient compensation for surrendering the rights of the public in and to this property in the event that oil should be discovered in the vicinity thereof. I am still of the same opinion." He then outlined what he called many necessary changes in the amendment as finally adopted.

"I do not feel that the failure of the city to receive the $450 is of any material consequence and, inasmuch as it is proposed by this council to deliver the lease to the proposed lessee, so that he may 'peddle' the same to some oil company, I cannot understand why the city council does not itself wait the time when an oil company would be interested in the property, at which time much more favorable terms could be obtained for the drilling rights on the property." But he lost, three to one. Councilman Plummer Bruns was absent.

BEET GROWERS TO JOIN PARLEY

Plans were being made today by beet growers of the county to attend a sugar beet growers conference opening at 10 a. m. Saturday at the Farm Adviser's office in the Post Office building at Santa Barbara, according to an announcement today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm adviser.

The program will open with a report on progress in sugar beet machinery studies by H. B. Walker, of the University of California at Davis.

Many Other Topics

Other topics to be discussed are: effect of mildew in performance of sugar beets, B. R. Houston, University of California assistant professor in plant pathology; results of sugar beet seed treatments in 1938, B. R. Houston; and fertilizer studies in 1938, R. A. Pendleton, assistant soil technologist, U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry.

All growers expecting to attend are requested to contact Cory at the Farm Adviser's office.

WOMAN HELD AFTER ASSERTED BEATING

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Six-year-old Leonard Boelhauff died early today at the Mercy hospital from a fractured skull and severe bruises suffered from what authorities said was a beating administered by the child's foster mother.

Police held Mrs. Dorothy Boelhauff, 29, Chula Vista, in connection with the boy's death. Mrs. Boelhauff, who said she planned to adopt Leonard, is under $2500 bond ordered yesterday in municipal court where she was charged with assault to do great bodily harm.

Deputy Sheriff A. B. Mason said Mrs. Boelhauff had whipped the child with a ruler Saturday because "he wouldn't button his coat and tie his shoes." She said she then locked him in a small, dark closet.

Mrs. Boelhauff told deputies the boy struck his head in the bathtub when she later released him from the closet. The child was removed to the hospital by her husband, Elmer Boelhauff, 30, chief boss's mate attached to the U. S. S. Balch, who found him lying naked and unconscious in the tub. Hospital attendants said Leonard died of a skull fracture and multiple bruises.

The child is the son of Leonard Skillhorn, former shipmate of Boelhauff's now stationed at Pearl Harbor. When Skillhorn and his wife separated in Boston, Mass., Boelhauff and his wife took the child into their home and intended to adopt him.

Leonard's mother later remarried and authorities said she was living in San Diego.

Radio Technicians See Television Demonstrations

Approximately 40 members of the Radio Technicians Association of Orange county last night were initiated into the mysteries of television when three amateur operators from Pomona set up receiving sets at the Home cafe to catch a "broadcast" of W6XAO, television call letters of the Mutual Don Lee chain at Station KHJ.

The demonstrators on last night's program were Kenneth L. Middleton, Farrell Fikie and L. G. Gilbert. A few minutes after 7 p. m. the broadcast flashed into the field of vision and figures of a football game were clearly distinguished.

Static Blamed

Best picture of the evening was of News Commentator Lowell Thomas. "Interference" from a "static" condition created by passing automobiles which send out high frequency wave lengths was held by the operators as the main reason for poor reception.

The program was arranged by William Reusch, of Anaheim; Rauwe Boyer, Fullerton; and Francis Hull, Santa Ana. Charles Levering, president of the organization was in charge of the meeting following the demonstration.

Court Notes

The estate left by the late Mabel Helen Elliott, who died October 26, today was valued at $16,094.53 in an inventory and appraisal filed in superior court by James B. Utt, state inheritance tax appraiser. The inventory listed two parcels of real estate in Orange, valued at $3750, and stocks, cash and furnishings.

An appraisal of $9180.37 was given to the estate of the late Rosario P. Macaray, of Anaheim, who died July 31, it was shown today when Howard Irwin, state appraiser, filed inventory and appraisal in superior court. The inventory included $3600 in cash, $5500 in Anaheim real estate, and $80 personal property.

Mrs. Mary Baker yesterday petitioned superior court to terminate the joint tenancy interest of the late E. S. Baker in 13 parcels of real estate, including Santa Ana and Laguna Beach city property and ranch lands; also three blocks of stocks.

CRUELTY CHARGER

Mrs. Jessie M. Jamerson charged cruelty in a divorce complaint filed today in superior court against William P. Jamerson. They married in Topeka, Kansas, October 5, 1935, and separated last Friday. The wife asks the right to resume her maiden name, Jessie M. Garhart.

2 CHICAGO PAPERS TIED UP BY STRIKE

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—The American Newspaper Guild planned to maintain a mass picket line today at Chicago's two Hearst owned newspapers, the evening American and the morning Herald-Examiner.

Both newspapers continued to publish their regular editions.

The Guild said 100 additional editorial and business employees had joined 500 others in the strike. Merrill Meigs, publisher of the American, said the management had prepared no definite figures but regarded the guild figures "an approximation" only. The newspapers employ approximately 3000 persons. Guild employees struck yesterday against alleged "mass firings, violations of editorial contracts and refusal of the company to negotiate."

Deny Violations

Meigs and Harry A. Koehler, publisher of the Herald-Examiner, denied contract violations and said that "we have advised the guild we are ready to enter negotiations the minute the National Labor Relations Board designates the proper bargaining unit and agent."

The guild announced that employees of the Hearst-owned International News Service were refusing to handle copy to or from the newspapers and that photographers of the International news photo service were refusing to take photographs to be used exclusively by the newspapers.

A spokesman of the I. N. S. Chicago bureau said the strike had not impaired the news and photo services. He said the question was a mechanical one, that union members employed by the service had refused only to deliver copy to the newspapers but that the newspapers obtained the copy by having non-striking employees call for it.

RETIRED RAILROAD MAN CALLED TODAY

James E. Gibson, retired railroad man and resident of this county for 23 years, passed away at 1:30 a. m. today at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trythall, East LaVeta avenue. He was 73 years of age. Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. Gibson was a resident of Topeka before moving to Orange 22 years ago.

An employee of the Santa Fe Railroad company, Mr. Gibson supervised the installation of the block signal system along these lines from San Bernardino to San Diego.

Funeral services are to be held at the Gillogly funeral home, Orange, Thursday at 2 p. m., conducted by the Rev. H. F. Softley, vicar of Trinity Episcopal church of that city. The body will be shipped to Topeka, Kan., for burial. Mr. Gibson is survived only by his daughter, Mrs. Thomas (Sarah L.) Trythall.

Building In Orange County For November Near $500,000 Mark

Sharp increases in building in the beach areas of the county were largely responsible for nearly a half million dollars in building permits issued in the county during November, according to a check made today by the publicity committee of the Orange County Builders' Exchange.

Marked gains in building were shown at Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach, Newport Beach and San Clemente, the total gain of the four communities totaling more than $87,000 gain over October.

Trace Area Slump
Greatest drop in building was in the unincorporated areas of the county that had a total of $135,190 in October and only $72,048 in November.

Total for the 12 incorporated areas and the County of Orange permits was $471,228, from 365 permits. In October the total was $451,672.

All Figures Listed
Following is a tabulation prepared by G. W. Bassett, secretary of the Exchange:

Community	Oct.	Nov.
Anaheim	$38,495	$41,091

Sewing Club To Hold Yule Party

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 6.—Members of a sewing club planned a Christmas party and gift exchange for their youngsters when they met in the home of Mrs. William Noble. The party will be held the afternoon of Dec. 15 at the home of Mrs. Ray Reafsnider.

Following the social evening and sewing the hostess served a salad course at one table centered with chrysanthemums in autumn shades. Present were Mrs. Joe Harliss, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Howard Moore, Mrs. Ray Reafsnider, Mrs. John Kraushaar, Mrs. Rhome Treece, Mrs. Nell Wright, Mrs. Al Bradley and Mrs. Noble.

Mrs. A. E. Mooney Called By Death

Mrs. Anna E. Mooney, 81 of 818 East Second street, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 25 years, died at her home yesterday after an illness of long duration. She was a native of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Mooney is survived by a son, D. F. Satterlee, Holt, Calif.; one step-son, W. W. Mooney, Nampa, Idaho, and two granddaughters, Helen Coleman, Santa Ana and Ann Elizabeth Satterlee, Stockton.

Funeral service will be held at Brown and Wagner mortuary. Details of rites will be announced later.

As the ice in a glass melts, it displaces its own weight of water and melts to a volume equal to the volume of water of that weight, thus causing no overflow.

Peace Officers To Stage Dance

Extensive plans were afoot today for the big benefit dance planned by the Orange County Peace Officers association for Thursday evening at the Rendezvous ballroom in Balboa.

Proceeds of the affair will go toward the peace officer's insurance benefit fund, it is announced. The dance promises to be a gala affair, according to Detective Lieutenant Hunter Leach of Santa Ana, who stated that films of the grand march will be shown later in local motion picture theaters.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

TUSTIN, Dec. 6.—The birthday anniversary of Fred L. Wilson, of Panorama Heights, was celebrated with a merry party recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cook. Following the dinner, the honoree's son, Stanley Wilson, related some of his experiences in Europe where he recently spent six months traveling.

Invited to share the dinner party with Mr. and Mrs. Cook and son, Perry, were Mr. Wilson and son, Stanley; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Byrne, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Stearns and son, Chester.

ESCAPES DEATH IN CRASH

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 6.—Theiry Rogers, local distributor for Los Angeles papers, narrowly escaped serious injury if not death when the car in which he was delivering papers struck a soft shoulder and rolled down into a 125 foot canyon, completely demolishing the car. Rogers was able to extricate himself and shortly secured another car to deliver his papers.

Picketing Becomes Nightmare

Mrs. Anna Rosenthal spent a night in the chilly street after being evicted from her New York tenement home. Friends moved her furniture before a relief bureau and picketed while she slept.

Solis Not Solis Of Prize Ring

Raul Solis, who told sheriff's officers he formerly was a prize fighter when they arrested him on a battery charge Friday, faces trial December 16 at 2 p. m. in Huntington Beach justice court. He pleaded not guilty after Julio Martinez, 17th street and Verano road, signed a complaint against him. Martinez alleged Solis struck him.

Town Lives By Rule Of Three

HAPPY CAMP, Cal.—(UP)—This city insists it enjoys its present prosperity and happiness to the fact that it has always lived by the "rule of three."

It has three stage lines, three merchandise stores, three restaurants, three hotels, three wood yards, is installing its third bar, has three churches, and plans are under way for three dress shops and three gift shops. The only enterprises free from competition are the bakery, laundry and first-aid clinic.

TO OPEN KITCHEN

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 6.—At a recent meeting of the executive board of the grammar school P. T. A., plans were made for opening the soup kitchen at the Washington school Jan. 3. Suppers of soup will be served the youngsters at three cents a cup.

Preceding the regular meeting of the P. T. A. Jan. 5, Mrs. D. S. Jordan, assisted by Mrs. Conrad Schreff, will serve a 12:30 o'clock luncheon at her home on Stanford avenue to members of the executive board.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, Dec. 6.—Members of Costa Mesa Townsend club No. 3 are planning a minstrel show for an early date, according to announcement made by Mrs. Beulah Ferguson.

Dr. R. C. Wilkins, formerly of Laguna Beach, is at his new location, 1960 Harbor boulevard.

Mrs. Ernest Scovel, who has been ill the past week at her home on West Wilson street, is recuperating.

W. B. Murberger has returned after a trip to the San Jacinto mountains. William Bushard has returned to his home after a vacation in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Becker of 2235 Harbor boulevard, have moved to Santa Ana.

Following a visit with H. L.

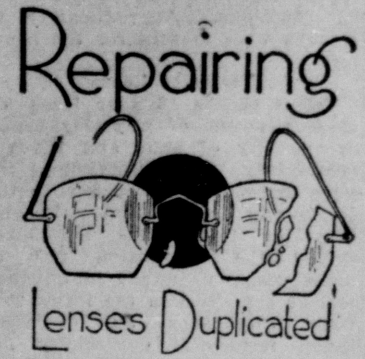

Baird, Le Roy Baird of Marysville, and Miss Evelyn Baird, of Oakland, have returned to their homes.

Meeting night for the Junior Townsend club has been changed from Friday to Monday evenings. Any resident under 35 years of age is invited to join the new organization.

Miss Jane Flinn, instructor in the nursery school at U.C.L.A., was a week end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Flinn, of 301 E. Broadway.

Costa Mesa One and Eight club members are to hold a social meeting Thursday, with Mrs. G. W. Tubbs, of 116 Main street, Huntington Beach, as hostess.

There are more than 48,000 communities in the United States that depend entirely upon the highways for their transportation facilities since they do not have railroad service.

Slash In Taxes Seen As Best Way To Encourage Business

BEACH COUNCIL IN LIDO LEASE

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 6. Proposal of the Lido Isle Community association for a lease of all tide lands, submerged lands, swamp and overflow lands and abutting uplands around Lido Isle which are owned by the city of Newport Beach was approved by the city council at a public hearing held last evening in the council chambers. Approximately 50 persons were present for the hearing.

Terms of Lease
Terms of the 25 year lease include payment of a yearly rental to the city of $750, and the responsibility of maintaining the piers and beaches placed with the community association. Provisions for terminating the lease should the association fail to make yearly payments in advance will be contained in the lease. The lease establishes an exclusive beach residential community for Lido Isle home owners.

Proposed reduction of water rates as presented at the November 7 city council meeting by City Engineer R. L. Patterson was revised and passed to a first reading.

Maps Requested
A request was ordered sent to the Orange County Planning commission that Newport Beach council be sent maps of any proposed subdivisions within surrounding territory for a distance of three miles. A number of deeds for property in the Corona del Mar area necessary for the proposed widening of the highway were received.

A request that the body consider the traffic question as presented in a master plan proposed by the city planning commission some time ago was tabled until the next meeting.

Alarm Recalls Wild West Days

Santa Anans early today may have thought someone was re-living "The Winning of the West" but police reported otherwise when they rushed to 602 East Fourth street.

Officers Paul Cosad and Ralph Pantaux located Miss Jean Woods, 29 waitress of 610 East Fourth street, questioned her. First she assertedly denied she owned a revolver. Later she told officers where it was. The officers found where three shots from the revolver had pierced wall and door. Miss Woods found where county jail is located. She was booked at the jail on charges of being drunk and carrying concealed weapons. The latter charge probably will be dropped. It was indicated.

HUSBAND FILES SUIT
Florentino Aguirre today petitioned superior court for a divorce from Mrs. Eloisa Aguirre, on grounds of desertion. The couple married in Santa Ana April 11, 1936, and separated on the following July 7.

ALLEGED WILES OF WIDOW TOLD

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., asserted before the senate finance subcommittee today that the best encouragement to business would be a general reduction in taxes.

Ford said he felt that a system of incentive taxation, providing for government tax credits to encourage industrial profit sharing, "might create more problems than it would solve."

Urges Reduction
"My feeling would be that a reduction of taxes generally would be as good an incentive as any," he told Sen. Herring, D. Ia., and Vanderberg, R. Mich.

Referring to tax credits for social management of industries, Ford said he "supposed" that "an incentive of that kind will always have an appeal" but that "it leads to complications and consequences that might be difficult to handle."

He said a general tax reduction program would provide business with benefits adequate to stimulate plant expansion, increased payrolls, profit sharing and other practices for which incentive taxation might be an encouragement.

"More Than Fair"
Ford called the Ford company "high wage" system the best form of profit sharing, saying that "we try to be more than fair, and we believe earnestly in paying just as high wages as can be paid and producing just as cheaply as possible in order to get a large volume of production."

"We feel that we have no serious labor trouble," Ford said when asked whether the plan had been found satisfactory.

When Ford went to the stand, he held up his right hand to be sworn as he was sworn yesterday for testimony before the O'Mahoney monopoly committee.

Minimum Wage
"Sit down," said Chairman Herring. "You don't need to be sworn. I know you well enough to take your word without an oath."

Ford said that in 1914 the company, then run by his father, Henry Ford, decided to "pay above what we thought was the going wage rate in our industry" and announced the $5 per day minimum wage as a profit sharing system.

The going wage then was 34 cents an hour, and his father added 28.5 cents to it, Ford said, and continued this policy until 1920 "when we established a minimum rate of 75 cents per hour or $6 per day. The profit sharing was changed to a straight $6 per day wage."

"This minimum prevails at present," Ford said. "In the depression it got down to $4 a day. I am talking now, about minimum wages, not the average."

Bonus Plan
"During the profit sharing plan, from 1914 to 1919, the amount paid out in excess of the going or average wage was $77,565,000."

"In 1920 and 1921 we had a cash bonus plan in which the benefits were based upon the rates of pay and length of service. Under this we paid out $6,750,000 a year. This was discontinued, and the salaries and wages were increased in proportion to the schedules under this plan."

"We thought by simplifying it we could operate better."

The employees investment plan now in operation at the Ford plants, he said, was started in 1920. Employees are permitted to invest in the company at a percentage of their salaries or wages, and at first were paid 6 per cent interest. Recently the interest was cut to 4.5 per cent. Special returns are paid on the deposits, in addition to the interest, in semi-annual payments, and amount to around 10 per cent, Ford said. This would make the deposits return as high as 16 per cent per year.

Ford paused and said:

"Profit Sharing"
"That fund now has $14,203,000 in it this year. Total interest and special returns on the fund have amounted to $27,813,000."

He listed approximately $12,000,000 as special returns, and Sen. Herring said, "That is clearly profit sharing."

Leaving the stand after five minutes of testimony, the manufacturer told the committee that "we will be glad to furnish any other information you desire."

20 Killed In Mine Disaster

row passage. Men climbed over the high sides of the cars and jumped. Some were crushed to death against the walls of the mine. Some fell under the wheels. Some escaped.

Most of them stayed in the train, however, as it plunged on for a mile after the cable broke. By that time, survivors estimated it was going 60 miles an hour and it finally jumped the tracks and piled up in a heap of splintered wood and twisted metal. That was where most of the casualties occurred.

Rescuer Killed
Ambulances, doctors and nurses came from five towns to help care for the injured. The rush of rescue work contributed one additional death to the disaster. A jobless taxi-driver, pressed into service to gather medical supplies and blankets, was killed when his automobile ran into a ditch.

Relatives of the miners, mostly women, and spectators gathered by the hundreds back of the police lines around the mine entrance. Some of the women, screaming hysterically, fought with the police.

Officials of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co., operators of the mine, prevented reporters from approaching the entrance.

Among those killed were two members of the town council of North Sydney Mines, Donald McPhee and William McDonald.

Nelson said he had planned to take a vacation last summer at the same time when Miss Davis would be free. His wife, however, refused to take a trip with him at that time, he said, and instead she went on a vacation tour with her sister.

The granting of the divorce decree culminated almost a year of marital confusion between the couple. Several months ago the rift in the Nelson home was rumored.

The plant shut down Friday, forcing 6,400 employees out of work. The strike forced the Buick plant, which uses Fisher bodies, to close also and an additional 14,000 men had no work. The Pontiac Fisher plant final assembly line in Pontiac also was forced to shut down because of a shortage of materials. An estimated 600 men were made idle there.

Crew On Nazi Plane Rescued

a. m. today. Its crew had planned to remain here overnight and fly on to Batavia, Java, tomorrow.

At 3:30 p. m., half an hour before it was due here, the plane radioed that it was experiencing motor trouble over Cavite, up the coast.

The message added that the plane hoped to land at Nielson airport within 10 minutes.

Start Search
An hour passed. There was no sign of the plane and there was no response to anxious messages from the airport. It was decided to send out rescue planes.

Capt. Mark Lewis, American army aviator, in a search plane, flew up the coast. About 100 feet off the village of Rosario, 30 miles from Manila on Luzon island, Lewis saw the plane settling on a group of Filipino fishing boats which picked up the members of the crew just before the plane sank until only its tip part was visible.

May Salvage Plane
Apparently the crew had tried to land the plane on the beach. It was believed that it could be salvaged.

Aboard the plane were Capt. Alfred Henke and Capt. Rudolf Von Moreau, pilots; Paul Dierberg, radio engineer; Walter Kohe, radio man; George Kohner, mechanic, and Heinz Junge, director of the Focke-Wulf company, owners of the plane.

Lafayette Patterson, chief administrative officer of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, declared that the A.A.A. "furnishes a magna carta for agriculture in this country."

Patterson said that he does not mean it is perfect, but that the "act provides for the best farm program this country has ever had and contains the best provisions of the sound proposals which have been presented Congress."

Attendance of 1500
By Thursday morning, when the Associated Farmers of California met for their annual convention, it is estimated that more than 1500 farmers will have arrived in the city for the convention.

A highlight of this morning's sessions was the annual report of A. A. Brock, State Director of Agriculture, who declared "there should be a happy medium some place so that the nation will have an abundance of food and those who produce will be compensated for their efforts."

Armstrong to Speak
Delegates gathered tonight in the Masonic Temple to hear Dr. Carl Alberts, director of the Giannini Foundation for Agricultural Research, speak before approximately 400 dinner guests.

John Thomas Taylor, legislative agent of the American Legion in Washington, said that he believes his organization will back the "fine proposal" almost 100 per cent.

The army officials declined to be quoted, asserting that the question is one for Congress alone to decide.

Secretary of Labor Perkins, opposed to the proposal, took her protest against it directly to the White House when it was suggested several years ago by American Legion officials to President Roosevelt. At the White House it was said the President had an "open mind" on the subject at that time. Mrs. Roosevelt, however, sided with Miss Perkins, contending that the CCC should be an army of peace, not war.

To date, 2,122,000 young men have been given CCC jobs. About 300,000 enroll in the agency each year. If all those men had been trained, this country would now have military reserves of about 3,500,000 men.

Brass Plate Found To Be Genuine
brass plate examined by us is the genuine Drake plate referred to in the book "The World Encompassed" by Sir Francis Drake.

The book, comprised of the memoirs of Drake during his history making the world voyage, was published in London in 1628. Drake mentioned the plate at Drake's Bay, commenting that it was nailed to a post and that it represented his claim of "this kingdom"—meaning California, which he named Nova Albion (New Albion).

Following is the inscription on the plate:

"Be it knowne unto all men by these presents:

"Tune (June) 15, 1579:

"By the grace of God and in the name of Her Majesty (majesty) Queen Elizabeth of England and her successors forever,

"I take possession of this kingdom whose king and people freely resigne their rights and title in the whole land unto Her Majesty's keepinge now named by me to be knowne unto all men Nova Albion, Francis Drake."

Below Drake's signature was a small hole which Drake mentioned in his memoirs as "made of purpose" to contain a sixpence of current English money bearing the picture of Queen Elizabeth.

down one of the main stairways at the courthouse and another outside. Judge Allen, when informed of the action, told Cooley he would order his arrest this afternoon.

Defense Attorney N. D. Meyer who, earlier in the trial propounded the longest hypothetical question on record in local courts, produced the same question again today in even greater volume, a 300-word effort which required 35 minutes to ask, at the murder trial of Charles Calhoun.

Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner promptly objected for 15 minutes.

With everybody slightly dizzy, Judge James L. Allen called a recess in the case, to study the question which Meyer had propounded to Dr. E. J. Steele, Los Angeles psychiatrist.

Covers Life
The hypothetical question covered Calhoun's entire life and experiences leading up to his act in killing his stepfather, Clyde Dillinger, at Midway City last June. The previous similar question had been ruled out by the court on the ground that it contained facts not in evidence and omitted other facts that were in evidence.

If and when wrestling is revived at the Orange County Athletic club (about spring) chances are the big fellows from Lou Doro's menagerie will be headlined. The Hollywood division featured real grapplers but they couldn't draw. They had no "Hard Boiled" Hagerty or no "Man from Mars." . . . San Bernardino Jaycee, which was outgained only by Santa Ana, did not put a single Don on its all-opponents' team this year. Johnny Joseph and Dick Saunders landed on the Indians' No. 2 list.

Sports Ed. Tom Powell of El Don, Jaycee weekly, wrote an "open letter" to Ray Banel, Fullerton end, asking him in friendly spirit whether Banel actually caught that disputed pass into the end zone that gave the Hornets a tie Thanksgiving Day. For Powell's information, End Banel says he DID catch the pass before it hit the ground and swear he's telling the truth. . . .

Frank Ort, late of The Journal, is going to report for The Register—The Watsonville Register. Ain't it awful that a man will do to fill a column on a slack day? . . . Sure sign that all's well that ends well is the return of Howard Jones to the Banquet League. The Trojan coach hasn't been much in demand as a speaker for several years. . . . Catcher Willard Hershberger of the Cincy Reds has moved from Fullerton to Three Rivers. Yes, that's in California. Hershey's mother is postmistress there. . . .

The old Judge's stand at Santa Anita has been torn down, but where it will be located has not been decided. The old stand obstructed the view of too many spectators. The enlarged, fully-covered clubhouse is three times larger than formerly. It looks about as big as the entire Santa Anita grandstand the first season. . . . Did you know that Scout Ernie Johnson once tailed "Flash" Gordon for the Red Sox? Joe was all set to sign for ten G's but turned it down for a Yankee bid, which was less. . . .

Aubrey Minter, Fullerton's dusky quarterback is headed for San Jose State. "Pony" Swenson, last year's "Jacket captain, is through with football. All he did was make the third string at San Jose. He wanted to go to the islands with the Spartans, but he was left at home. . . . Although John Raitt has another year of eligibility at Redlands, he probably will take his sheepskin this spring and then do some graduate work at Stanford. He'll be able to work out with "Dink" Templeton and prepare himself for the Olympic Games. Harold Lang, who coached Raitt, always insisted the kid is a potential world champ in the shot. . . .

Charles (Sunday) Durland, who is in line for the San Diego State frosh coaching berth next fall, is going to see to it that his alma mater is well fortified with Jaycee talent. . . . Coach Wendell Pickens has one big objection to the influx of out-of-state gridders on Fullerton Jaycee's roster. "We've got so many on our squad that the Santa Ana game doesn't mean anything," he said, "it's just another ball game. The fellows from around here are different. The game means something. They are fired up for it and play better ball. I know. When we played against Santa Ana in high school and junior college, we played inspired ball. And nobody has to tell us to pick played when "Red" Carroll raced 98 yards for a touchdown on the opening kickoff before "Colonel" Berry, then KVOC's grid announcer got there.

ARMSTRONG STOPS MANFREDO IN 3RD

BY NED RUSSELL

(United Press Staff Correspondent) CLEVELAND—Add another name to the list of victims felled by Henry Armstrong, the man known as "Mr. Perpetual Motion," and shed a tear for a little-brid-to-be out in Fresno, Cal.

For last night Armstrong, holder of the lightweight and welterweight titles, defended the latter crown with a neat, quick job on Al Manfred, who had hoped to win the 117-pound crown and present it next week to his sweetheart—as a wedding present.

Nine minutes and 45 seconds after he stepped into the ring, Armstrong's hand was raised in token of victory—a savage, slashing triumph that ended with Referee Tony La Branch waving Manfred to his corner staggering, dead on his feet. A crowd of 12,784 saw the fight which was the main event on a card sponsored by the Cleveland News as a Christmas benefit.

Lou Ambers, who wants to fight Armstrong again for the lightweight title, won by a technical knockout over Frankie Wallace, who injured his hand and failed to come out for the seventh. Petey Sarron out-punched Mike Gamiere, and Solly Krieger, N. B. A. champ won easily over Carmen Barth.

Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, said he would telephone Mike Jacobs in New York today regarding a return Armstrong-Ambers fight but he emphasized that the fight must be for the welterweight title.

Citrus Quits Conference Football

ADOPT COAST GRID CARD FOR SEASON OF '39

PALM SPRINGS—(UP)—The Pacific Coast conference will join the National Collegiate Athletic association in sponsoring a National college basketball championship tournament.

The decision was reached by the representatives of the 10 conference members, scheduled to end their annual conference here today after having adopted the 1939 football schedule with no important changes in the previous draft.

W. B. Owens of Stanford, president of the N. C. A. A., said the proposed basketball tourney will include the Big Ten and the "Ivy League."

The date of the annual Pacific Coast-Big Ten track meet was shoved ahead to one week before the N. C. A. A. meet, instead of being the week after as originally planned. The intersectional meet will be held on the coast, probably at Berkeley the second week of June. The N.C.A.A. classic is tentatively scheduled at Los Angeles, June 16-17.

The round-robin football schedule:

CALIFORNIA—Oct. 15 Oregon at Berkeley; Oct. 21 Washington State at Berkeley; Oct. 28 Southern California at Berkeley; Nov. 4 U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles; Nov. 11 Washington State at Berkeley; Nov. 18 Oregon State at Portland; Nov. 25 Stanford at Palo Alto.

OREGON—Sept. 30 U.S.C. at Los Angeles; Oct. 7 Stanford at Portland; Oct. 14 California at Berkeley; Oct. 21 open; Oct. 28 U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles; Nov. 4 Washington State at Pullman; Nov. 11 Oregon State at Eugene; Nov. 18 Washington State at Seattle; Nov. 25 Washington at Seattle.

OREGON STATE—Sept. 30 Stanford at Palo Alto; Oct. 7 Idaho at Corvallis; Oct. 14 open; Oct. 21 Washington State at Corvallis; Oct. 28 U.S.C. at Portland; Nov. 4 California at Eugene; Nov. 11 Oregon State at Corvallis; Nov. 18 U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles; Nov. 25 Stanford at Palo Alto.

STANFORD—Sept. 30 Oregon State at Palo Alto; Oct. 7 Oregon at Portland; Oct. 14 U.C.L.A. at Palo Alto; Oct. 21 open; Oct. 28 Washington State at Seattle; Nov. 4 open; Nov. 11 U.S.C. at Los Angeles; Nov. 18 Washington State at Pullman; Nov. 25 California at Palo Alto; Dec. 2 Dartmouth, Hanover, N. H.

U.C.L.A.—Oct. 7 Washington State at Seattle; Oct. 14 Stanford at Palo Alto; Oct. 21 open; Oct. 28 Oregon at Los Angeles; Nov. 4 California at Los Angeles; Nov. 11 open; Nov. 18 open; Nov. 25 Oregon State at Los Angeles; Nov. 30 Washington State at Los Angeles; Dec. 9 U.S.C. at Los Angeles.

WASHINGTON—Sept. 30 Pittsburgh at Seattle; Oct. 7 U.C.L.A. at Seattle; Oct. 14 Washington State at Pullman; Oct. 21 Oregon State at Seattle; Oct. 28 Stanford at Seattle; Nov. 4 California at Berkeley; Nov. 11 California at Berkeley; Nov. 18 open; Nov. 25 Oregon at Los Angeles; Dec. 2 U.S.C. at Los Angeles.

WASHINGTON STATE—Oct. 7 U.S.C. at Los Angeles; Oct. 14 Washington State at Pullman; Oct. 21 open; Oct. 28 Oregon State at Corvallis; Nov. 4 Oregon at Pullman; Nov. 11 Idaho at Pullman; Nov. 18 Stanford at Palo Alto; Nov. 25 U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles.

Coach "Slip" Madigan announced St. Mary's schedule, putting the annual "Little Big Game" of the Far West between the Gaels and Santa Clara on Oct. 22. The schedule: Oct. 1 Gonzaga at Kezar stadium; Oct. 7, California at Berkeley; Oct. 15, Loyola at Los Angeles; Oct. 22, Santa Clara at Kezar; Oct. 29, Portland U. at Kezar; Nov. 5 Texas Tech at Kezar; Nov. 11, San Francisco U. at Kezar; Nov. 18, Fordham at New York.

SAN DIEGO—(UP)—Southern California was one up over San Diego State in a season opening basketball series of two games today, but only after a surprising hard fight that ended 42-37.

Frisch's Return To Giant Club Rumored

By TED MALOY (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW ORLEANS—(UP)—Rumors outnumbered facts today as major and minor league baseball owners, scouts, manager and executives gathered for the minor league convention opening tomorrow.

One report was that Frankie Frisch, the former "Fordham Flash" who was deposed as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, might return to the New York Giants, where he became a star player.

It was said that Bill Terry, Giant manager, practically has clinched a working agreement with New Orleans in the Southern association and that Pancho Snyder, Giant coach, would manage the Pelicans. In that case, Frisch could easily be hired to replace Snyder.

Another report was that legislation would be forthcoming which might hurt the New York Yankees and other clubs richly endowed with talent. It would come through changes in the waiver rule providing that a club can ask waivers on all its players and, should any be claimed, the waivers can be recalled. There is no limit to

Duke's Defense Inspired By Injury To Star Back

BY HARRY GRAYSON (NEA Service Staff Editor)

The Duke-Pittsburgh game will never be forgotten by any football-minded person who saw it.

Never has the skill of one player so completely tied up a powerful gridiron machine.

Eric Tipton's exhibition of kicking perhaps was the greatest ever seen. He actually put English on the ball to make it roll the way he wanted it to roll. Forward, backward, right, or left, and out-of-bounds.

How Tipton did this with frozen hands and a slimy ball is no more of a mystery than how Dan Hill under the same conditions snapped the ball back to the Duke backs perfectly all afternoon. Not a single bad pass in a snow storm. Amazing.

They were the more remarkable stars of the remarkable Duke team which upset mighty Pittsburgh, 7-0.

A club going through a nine-game major schedule unscathed in these days of dizzy football . . . where upsets are the rule and most anything can happen . . . is almost unbelievable. It would be a rarely accomplished feat had Duke played a string of old soldier homes. Against such representative opponents as V.P.L. Davidson, Colgate, Georgia Tech, Wake Forest, North Carolina, Syracuse (and its brilliant Wilmeth Sidat-Singh) North Carolina State, and Pittsburgh it is practically a miracle.

With the season completed, and with the record of every team available, Professor Dickinson (not without a mild rebuke from Mrs. Dickinson, I trust), rose amidst his charts and formulae and said that the eleven top teams and their point ratings were:

Notre Dame, 27.72; Duke, 27.10; Tennessee, 26.68; U.S.C., 23.71; Oklahoma, 23.69; Michigan, 23.02; Minnesota, 22.71; Texas Christian, 22.67; Alabama, 22.63; Carnegie Tech, 22.62; Pittsburgh, 22.54.

I thought I was the country's worst picker in the sports field, and that the system I used was the last word in arriving at a wrong conclusion. But now along comes Professor Dickinson from behind the bushes where he has been hiding his light, and makes a picker out of me and my feeble little wrong picking efforts. As fine as my system is, it makes no provision for me to pick things wrong AFTER they have happened. It simply assures me that I can guess wrong BEFORE an event.

But the professor's system has no such imperfection. With all the football returns in hand he can sit right down and pick Minnesota and Michigan over T. C. U. The fact that Southern California kicked the daylights out of Notre Dame here Saturday didn't clog a gear in the professor's system, and he found it simple to name Notre Dame as the National champion. I wish the professor had seen that game, because if he had it would have opened his eyes to the fact that in his charts and diagrams he has a little gem and a beauty of a system.

Mind you, this is not to be taken as a criticism of Professor Dickinson's method. Rather, it is the outpouring of a jealous soul. How I envy him, and his luck in hitting on a method by which he can not only arrive at 14 carat foolery, but can break it down to where the impressive decimal points begin.

I think Professor Dickinson is being unkind when he confines his ratings to football. His method would be a whiz in boxing, and completely change the pugilistic picture. For example, suppose the professor applied the same method he used in choosing Notre Dame, to a prizefight in which a fighter won the first eight rounds, only to be knocked out in the ninth. He undoubtedly would name the man who was knocked out as the winner. In horse racing, it is conceivable that the professor would give the Derby or the Preakness to the horse that led the greater part of the distance.

There is only one thing that bothers me in the professor's

Greatly instrumental in Duke's smashing victory over Pitt were Eric (The Red) Tipton, above right, whose exhibition of punting against the Panthers was termed by experts as one of the best ever seen in Dixie, and Willard (Bolo) Perdue, left, Duke end, who blocked a Pitt punt and fell on the ball in the end zone for the game's only touchdown.

Dickinson's Ratings Tops In Tomfoolery

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES—I don't know Prof. Frank G. Dickinson of the University of Illinois, but I certainly would like to. He must be my type of man, else how in the world could he have arrived at the National football ratings he unblushingly released under his name at Champaign yesterday?

With the season completed, and with the record of every team available, Professor Dickinson (not without a mild rebuke from Mrs. Dickinson, I trust), rose amidst his charts and formulae and said that the eleven top teams and their point ratings were:

LEAGUE HEADS ACT AGAINST ALL-STAR TILT

Because of a small student enrollment and inability to field a representative football team during the past two years, Citrus junior college has decided to "free-lance" next season instead of playing a regular Eastern conference schedule. The Owls, however, will take part in all other sports.

The decision was announced yesterday at a regular meeting of Eastern conference administrators at Glendora.

For the past two seasons the Owls have been subject to demoralizing defeats by other conference teams because of a lack of reserve strength. The Owls hope to be back in 1940 or '41 with a team capable of holding its own on the gridiron. As far as is known here, Al Claves will remain in charge of football at Citrus, where he has turned in a good job with what material he had.

Conference administrators reluctantly accepted the decision of Citrus to withdraw from football and at the same time gave the Owls a vote of confidence.

The conference took action against a proposed all-star game scheduled between a select group of players from the Western and Eastern conference Dec. 31 at Gilmore Stadium in Los Angeles, but refused to commit themselves as to the punishment that might be meted to athletes participating. It was believed, however, that any player from the Eastern division who plays will forfeit his eligibility in other sports for 1938-39.

A movement to have home teams retain all gate receipts was tabled as was a motion to require four officials at all football games. Conference leaders left the problem of a fourth official up to the participating schools.

The 1939 football schedule was adopted before Citrus withdrew so it was recommended that the date be left, giving conference members the opportunity to schedule an extra practice game if desired. It is believed that Citrus will fill several of these "bye" dates.

The 1939 schedule: Oct. 6—Santa Ana bye; Fullerton at Riverside; Pomona at San Bernardino; Chaffey bye.

Oct. 13—Santa Ana at Pomona; San Bernardino at Riverside; Chaffey bye; Fullerton bye.

Oct. 20—Santa Ana at San Bernardino; Pomona at Chaffey; Fullerton bye; Riverside bye.

Oct. 27—Riverside at Santa Ana; Chaffey at Fullerton; Pomona bye; San Bernardino bye.

Nov. 3—Santa Ana at Chaffey; San Bernardino at Fullerton; Riverside bye; Pomona bye.

*Nov. 10 or 23—Fullerton at Santa Ana; Chaffey at San Bernardino; Riverside at Pomona.

Nov. 17—Santa Ana bye; Riverside at Chaffey; Pomona at Fullerton; San Bernardino bye.

*Games can be played on either date.

CUBS RELEASE TONY LAZZERI

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Tony Lazzeri today requested and was granted his release from the Chicago Cubs with whom he had signed as player-coach a year ago after 12 years as second baseman for the New York Yankees.

Lazzeri, who has indicated he wishes to resume his active playing career, recently was reported to have received an offer from the Cleveland Indians.

Owner Phil K. Wrigley of the Cubs said he "wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Lazzeri back with us sometime."

Asked if he meant that Lazzeri might be considered as a candidate for manager of the Cubs sometime in the future, Wrigley replied: "If he has the proper qualifications and if something happens to Gabby Hartnett, we certainly would consider him for the job."

IRVINE NIPS GASMEN IN OVERTIME GAME

Emmett Seacord and his Southern Counties Gas company cagers almost (but not quite) tagged the league-leading Irvine Beaniepickers in a thrilling overtime game at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Irvine finally won, 34-31.

The near-upset saw the Gasmen take a 14-12 lead at halftime. The Beaniepickers tied the count at 23-23 at the end of the regulation period. Tom Lacy made 23 points when he paced the T. J. Neal quintet to a 57-14 victory over Karl's Shoe store in a preliminary contest.

Lineups:

FIRST GAME

H. B. Council Orders Tentative Plans For New Bowl

BOARD TO ACT ON JANUARY 2

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 6.—City Engineer Harry Overmeyer was instructed to draw up tentative plans for an open air beach bowl when the city council met last night. He will present them at the next regular meeting on January 2.

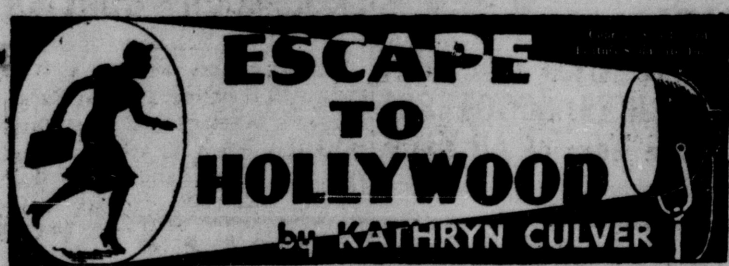

Hold Discussion
There was a lively discussion over the request of the bowl committee, of the chamber of commerce, W. J. Bristol, chairman, presented the matter after a letter endorsed by the chamber had been read. Mayor M. M. McCallen said that the city did not have funds for the work at the present time. Councilman Tom Talbert spoke in favor of the project. F. E. Bundy and W. H. Gallienne made urgent requests that the council authorize the work.

F. E. Bundy, chairman of traffic and safety for the chamber, urged the councilmen to take steps to eliminate the dangerous corner at Fifth Points and to beautify that entrance to the city.

Mayor McCallen suggested that since the highway in question is county property that the city wait until the new board of supervisors is organized and then ask for widening of the entrance and beautification of it. Councilman Talbert suggested that the double lane of trees along the route be removed and a wider road laid.

New Truck Ordinance
An ordinance was passed prohibiting parking of trucks on Main street between Ocean Avenue and Olive street and on Walnut avenue

Linda Bailey's father has been considered Centerville's wealthiest citizen, but when he dies, she learns that he has left her practically nothing. To hide this from the townfolk, she sets out for Hollywood, over the protests of Fred Lancaster, who expected to marry her. En route she is robbed, but Martin Carstairs, movie star, aids her. In Los Angeles she takes an apartment with Max Baxter, another screen aspirant. She begins to fall in love with Martin, who promises her a screen test. But a studio representative tells her Martin is secretly married to Judith Orange, actress, but becomes infatuated with newcomers. Linda breaks with Martin. She and Max get jobs in a five-and-ten store, romantically hoping a movie scout will see them. Fred suddenly telegraphs he is coming to Los Angeles. Linda and Max frantically plan an act to make Fred think Linda is successful. Then Helen Debler, a home-town rival, wires she is to meet Fred and return home with him.

CHAPTER XXII
Linda didn't quite know what to do about this complication. Fred was arriving at three . . . Helen at six. Had this meeting been prearranged before Fred left Centerville? It just didn't quite make sense if Fred was coming here to see her, Linda.

Mae came over to the Granada Arms to spend the evening with her, and suggested it was probably Helen's own idea—an effort to be in the way and prevent Fred from proposing to Linda.

"And you don't think Fred knows she's coming?"
"Probably not. She'll have some winsome idea of jumping out of a corner and yelling, 'Surprise, surprise!'"

"What do you think I should do?"
"Beat her at her own game," Mae said sturdily. "You meet Fred's train at three. Bring him up for a quick look at the apartment, just to make the right impression on him, then take him out to the studio. Keep him out . . . if he doesn't know this Helen is coming."

"But . . . Helen will never forgive me if I'm not here to meet her."
"What do you care if she forgives you or not? She's trying to gum up things for you, isn't she? I'll come here and entertain her . . . while you've got Freddie out in the moonlight, letting him slip the ring on your third finger."

All of Mae's plans, Linda realized, were predicated upon the idea that she was in love with Fred and would accept if he proposed to her.

Well, she thought, disconsolately, perhaps Mae knew her mind better than she knew it herself. In the end she agreed with Mae's suggestion.

"Don't you worry about Helen," Mae said upon parting. "I'll spill her a glamorous success story about you that'll have her head spinning. After you've got Freddie hooked you bring him around here. If you want . . . pretend to be surprised to find Helen here."

Linda didn't like the idea of quite so much deceit, but she went to bed and dreamed that Martin and Fred were fighting a duel over her.

She awoke late next morning and lay in bed a long time without moving, luxuriating in the fact that she didn't have to punch a time clock, and trying to sort out and classify her emotions as she went over her plans for the day.

Curiously, she didn't feel very emotional about any of it. If Fred

VANDERMAST WINS TWO MAJOR ISSUES IN LAWSUIT BY MOORE

An opinion handed down today by Superior Judge George K. Scovel in the damage suit brought by Walter K. Moore, owner of the Moore building at Fourth and Broadway, against Vandermast, Inc., tenants of Moore, brought a victory for Vandermast, Inc., in the two major issues of the case, while Moore won a minor cause of action, allowing him $749.24 judgment, without costs.

Veterans' Welfare Group To Convene

An important meeting of the Orange county Veterans welfare association will be held at the Orange American Legion hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All veterans have been urged to attend.

The annual report of Harry D. Edwards, Director of Veterans welfare in Orange county will feature the meeting.

Other speakers on the program include: Roy Ferguson, Director of State Employment office in Santa Ana; Ralph S. Goff, Manager of the S.R.A. offices in Santa Ana; Don Clafin, National liaison officer of the Southern California American Legion and C. Burt Allen, of the State Employment office.

Don Clafin is considered one of the best informed men in the United States on Veterans legislation.

between Third and Fifth streets, except in an emergency.

Permits were given to the Southwest Exploration company for the erection of derricks for wells Nos. 13, 14, 15 and 16.

The court denied Moore's claim for six per cent of the gross receipts of Vandermast, Inc. not only from the store at Fourth and Broadway, but also the Vandermast store at Fourth and Sycamore, established in October, 1938.

Also Denies Damages
This claim, representing the difference between the six per cent and the $350 per month actually paid to Moore by Vandermast, Inc. throughout the period, would have amounted to between $10,000 and $12,000 for the two years and three months since the second store was established.

The court also denied Moore's claim for $15,000 damages to the Moore building which Moore claimed resulted to the prestige and earning ability of the Moore building by removal of part of Vandermast's stock and fixtures to the location at Fourth and Sycamore streets.

Moore's claim for $749.24, expended in remodeling the basement of his building for use by Vandermast, Inc., which then failed to use the basement, was granted by the court.

Claim Recited
The claim for six per cent of gross receipts was based upon terms of a lease agreement between Moore and Vandermast, Inc., covering the Fourth and Broadway store. Moore claimed that the subsequent establishment of a second store at Fourth and Sycamore street was an attempt to evade terms of the lease, and that he was entitled to the percentage from both stores. The court rejected this contention.

Attorneys Drumm, Tucker and Drumm, and Porgy, Reinhold and Porgy, represented Vandermast, Inc., in the case, which was tried some time ago. Attorneys Harvey and Harvey, Franklin G. West and Jack J. Rintel were counsel for Moore.

JURORS ENTITLED TO MILEAGE, IS RULING

Trial jurors are entitled to mileage every day they come to court, it was pointed out today to the county supervisors, who thereupon passed a motion authorizing such payments in compliance with a new state law, of which the board had not been aware.

The new section, passed by the special session of the legislature last winter and effective March 30, this year, was brought to the attention of the board by Attorney Charles D. Swanner, who presented a petition signed by every member of the present superior court jury panel.

Repeals Measure
The statute repeals the provision of the county salary ordinance passed last October, which limited jury mileage to 15 cents per mile, one way, for the first day of any case only. This was in conformity with an old state law, which the new section supercedes.

The new mileage law is retroactive to last March 30, according to Deputy District Attorney James E. Walker. However, jurors who have been paid under the old law since March 30, must file their demands for the deficiency in their allowance, it was stated.

Gets Car Number After Accident

Clifford Peterson, 1027 South Main, reporting an accident last night in which his car fender and bumper were damaged, asked police to provide him with the name of the registered owner of license plates No. 8-X-4732. Peterson said the driver of the car bearing those plates failed to stop after the car collided with his at Second and Broadway. Police reported the plates registered to Irvin P. Allee, 3500 Valencia street, Fullerton.

Police news

Burglars who entered the rear door of an unoccupied house belonging to R. R. Schwartzbaugh, Route 1, Anaheim, stealing a $35 Kenmore model, electric washing machine, were sought by sheriff's officers today. The house is located on Nutwood road one-fourth mile south of Ball road. Apparently the machine was hauled away by automobile, Deputy Bob Steinberger said.

John King, solicitor for a Los Angeles newspaper, told sheriff's officers yesterday he was bitten by a Buena Park dog but did not wish to sign a complaint against the owner.

Mrs. Emma Steffans, Route 1, Anaheim, Broadway at Brookhurst, who reported her dog poisoned yesterday, asked sheriff's officers to investigate and seek the poisoner. Deputy Sheriff Bob Steinberger suggested that the health department assist in the investigation.

Antonio Gallegos, 44, Fullerton, was booked at county jail yesterday to begin serving a 37½-day term for drunk driving.

Frederick Lacade, 52, who said he is a fishing fish captain and lives in San Clemente, was jailed here last night on a vagrancy charge filed by arresting officers. Deputy Sheriff Tom Murphine and Harvey Gulick.

Winners of the nine competing classes in the local Santa Ana high school in the American Legion essay contest were announced today by Keith Davis, chairman of the Legion Americanism committee. More than 300 students participated, submitting essays on some subject dealing with the Constitution of the United States.

The nine winners and their subjects are as follows: Peggy Holway—"America First"; Betty Holmes—"We the People"; Elaine Owens—"The Continental Congress"; Bruce Ragan—"The Story of the Constitution"; James Adams—"The Constitution"; Anne Bell—"Our Cherished American Rights"; Jack Foust—"Our Great Document of Democracy"; Frank Lindgren—"The Constitution"; and William Friend—"Division of Power as Defined by the Constitution."

Set For Main Contest
The main contest to select the two best essays, will be held in the little theater of the high school at 8 p. m. Tuesday, December 13. The two contestants delivering the best essays will compete in a district contest between Orange, Tustin and Garden Grove about January 6th.

"The students of our high school deserve a great deal of credit for the enthusiasm and the unusual interest taken in this year's contest," said Chairman Davis, "and the legion wants especially to thank Lynn Crawford, principal of the high school, for his fine cooperation in making this year's contest so successful and also for the splendid work and interest of the teachers of the winners who are Miss Levenia Scott, Miss Helen Kirkland, Mrs. Edith Cook and Miss Mary Safely."

The legion and the high school feel especially fortunate in being able to announce for this contest the following prominent and highly capable judges. The judges are, James B. Tucker, past commander of the American Legion, attorney, B. Z. McKinney, attorney, and chairman of the county Democratic central committee, and Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, past president of the Ebell club.

Plan Speaking "Tour"
Various service clubs will hear contestants deliver an essay during the next week. The public is invited and urged to attend this contest next Tuesday night at the little theater.

First and second place winners are to receive an appropriate medal each and cash prizes of $10 and $5 respectively. The winners of the district contest then will enter the county contest, then a tri-county contest between Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

"This contest on the Constitution of the United States," Keith Davis stated, "is conducted in the high schools throughout the United States under the sponsorship of the American Legion. The purpose of this contest is to foster the teachings of Americanism in our schools and to spread throughout our communities information as to the real nature and principle of our American and Democratic form of government."

Brush Fire At Laguna Reported

Three acres of brush land were burned over in Aliso canyon near Laguna Beach yesterday. According to Joe Scherman, state forest ranger, 50 CCC boys and crews from the San Juan Capistrano state fire department and the Orange state fire department, put out the fire in a short time. A trash pile at the dump off Tustin street at the Sanitago creek, called out the state department at Orange at sunset last evening.

Mystery Deaths Puzzle Police

MUNCIE, Ind., Dec. 6.—(UP)—Police were puzzled today by the mysterious deaths of three men, one reputed to be wealthy, whose bodies were found yesterday in separate rooms of a gas filled apartment.

The dead are Walter G. Johnson, 65, formerly of Chicago and Detroit, the inventor and seller of an automobile carburetor heater; Joseph Connor, 47, a war veteran, and Robert R. 23, odd job worker, both of Muncie.

One investigator said either the three men had been murdered, that it was a case of murder and suicide, or a triple suicide pact.

Night Club Man Absolved Of Fight Blame

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — "Shanty" Malone, a star athlete 10 or more years ago, was exonerated today of all responsibility for a fracas in his Eddy street night club in which Jack Patrick, Pacific Coast conference football official, suffered a bruised jaw.

George Cavanaugh, agent for the state board of equalization, said he had investigated and found that Malone did everything possible to maintain order before Stan Anderson, Stanford university tackle, struck Patrick.

Patrick was attempting to act as peacemaker in an argument between Anderson and a former U. S. F. football star. The incident occurred the night after Stanford defeated Dartmouth in an inter-sectional football game.

'HANDBILL MEASURE' PASSED BY COUNCIL

A new ordinance to prohibit free distribution of handbills, doggers, circulars, newspapers, booklets and other printed matter or advertisement in Santa Ana was given first reading and adoption by city council last night.

Seventy-three petitioners at the Nov. 21 meeting of city council asked that such an ordinance be adopted. The new ordinance holds that the profuse and promiscuous circulation of the free handbills, etc., on porches, drives, sidewalks and yards of the residents of the city of Santa Ana, and in vehicles standing in public streets has become a public nuisance—menace to the public peace, health and safety "by the risk of fires, of clogging storm drains, and of appearing profane and criminals of the absence of residents from their homes."

Prescribes Regulation
"This ordinance shall not be deemed to prohibit the distribution of the United States mail," wording of the ordinance states, "nor the delivery of any newspaper to any subscriber who has ordered the same to be so delivered to such subscriber, for which newspaper the said subscriber has paid or agreed to pay a consideration to the publisher or distributor of such newspaper, nor to the sale of separate copies of such newspapers on the streets of said city."

The ordinance makes its violation punishable by fine of not more than $100 or by imprisonment in county jail for a period of 30 days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

HEISMAN MEMORIAL TROPHY TO O'BRIEN

NEW YORK.—(UP)—Davey O'Brien, 150-pound quarterback from Texas Christian university who has been voted by many as the year's outstanding football player, receives the John W. Heisman Memorial Trophy tonight.

Six hundred experts throughout the country chose O'Brien as the most valuable player of the year over such stars as Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, Sid Luckman of Columbia, Bob MacLeod of Dartmouth and Vic Bottari of California.

O'Brien said he might consider an offer to play professional football, but doubted whether "any pint-sized star was reluctant to talk about his feats on the gridiron, but not so his coach, L. R. (Dutch) Meyer."

"I think Davey is one of the greatest football players I have ever seen," Meyer said. "The paring him with Sammy Baugh, who used to play for me, I'd say that O'Brien is a better passer, a better runner and a better analyst."

160 Jailed In S. F. Vice Raid

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Southern station police officers swooped down early today on the Dawn club, 20 Annie street, and arrested sponsors, entertainers and more than 160 male guests at an alleged indecent performance.

Officers said four rolls of film were confiscated and that their arrival interrupted an asserted "strip-tease" dance act.

Five girl entertainers, a pianist and a man who gave his name as Albert Ennis, were arrested. He said he had rented the club for the evening for a purely private entertainment.

It was the largest police raid in more than five weeks.

HOLLYWOOD TO HAVE 'GARDEN'

HOLLYWOOD — (UP) — Bing Crosby, movie star, crooner and horse race magnate, today entered another field of entertainment when he announced he will build a "Madison Square Garden of the West" in Hollywood.

The building will cost $1,500,000, Crosby said. Construction will start in three months and the establishment will open next September.

The building will have sliding walls and can be expanded or contracted to hold crowds from 5,000 to 41,000. All sports except baseball can be played in it, according to the plans. Crosby and his associates plan to stage big league hockey games, basketball, A.B.C. bowling and big time tennis, among other things. The site is Third and Fairfax streets in Hollywood.

No stock will be sold to the public as all financing has been done by 100 prominent men.

DENIES MOVES FOR BUSINESS IN HOMES

Applications of two Santa Ana women for permission to establish businesses in their home were denied by city council last night, two other applications for new construction through zone changes were approved, and one request for permission to erect a new cottage was withdrawn to that a revised request might be made.

All of the actions were taken with approval of the city planning commission. Mrs. Jean B. Schade, 223 South Sycamore, was denied permission to conduct a beauty parlor in her home, Mrs. Dorothy J. Gilbert, 510 Cypress, permission to conduct a rest home for care of the aged at her place.

L. L. Hood was given permission to erect a service at 1425 North Main at the Ice House location, and Emmet C. Rogers, contractor, was given permission to build a duplex on the southwest corner of Oak and Grant streets. No protests were entered against either the Hood or Rogers application. Fifteen names were signed to a petition which stated changing the single-family zone on Ross street between Camille and Bishop to court and apartment zone would lower property values. N. C. Nelson, applicant for the permit, said he wanted to build only a small cottage, no court or apartment, and would revise his application.

Riverside officers asked Orange county sheriff's officers to hold Platt for them on charges he issued a check without sufficient funds in the bank in Riverside county. Friday in superior court when information was filed against Platt here, the setting of trial date was put over until December 16 at 10 a. m.

Battery Man Held As Check Passer

Another method of bilking the public asserted was credited today to John Gilykson, 42, Sunset Beach, who is now in county jail facing a petty theft charge.

Gilykson, a battery man, asserted went from place to place in the county, chiefly to garages, where he passed fictitious checks for old batteries which he said he would "rebuild and return." According to allegations, Gilykson failed to return the batteries, sold them elsewhere and kept the money himself.

Albert Mills, Anaheim, is the complaining witness against Gilykson who was arrested by Officer Fay L. Barnett, Anaheim, and Deputy Sheriff Robert Conkey and Vern Mohn. Capt. Herman Zabel of the identification bureau at the sheriff's office asked that all others who asserted may have been victimized by Gilykson contact him or Anaheim police.

Gas Chamber For Suicides Urged

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 6.—(UP)—Ralph G. Clifford, unemployed agricultural worker, suggested in death today that lethal gas execution chambers be placed in large centers of population.

A note found after Clifford had transformed his own hotel room into a lethal suicide chamber apologized for "the inconvenience caused by this incident."

"For convenience," he added, "I suggest that a public lethal gas chamber be placed in each largely populated center where those unfit, who so desire, may go to terminate their misery."

Fail To Discuss Use Of High School For J. C.

A review of the Union Junior College situation by three members of the Santa Ana junior college official board occupied the attention of the directors of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon.

Those appearing before the directors were George Wells, president of the Santa Ana Board of Education; Frank A. Henderson, city superintendent of schools, and D. K. Hammond, junior college director.

Report Other Plans
An earlier report that discussion of the possibility of utilizing the present high school plant and grounds was scheduled, was not brought into the meeting according to E. B. Sharpley, chamber director who, with J. B. Tucker met with the board of education last week.

At yesterday's meeting it was brought out that the Orange County Coast association was still actively engaged in attempting to form a union junior college district and that State Senator Harry Westover and Assemblyman Clyde Watson had pledged themselves to support measures in the state legislature that would permit geographical representation in the proposed union district.

No action was taken by the chamber at yesterday's meeting.

Beach Resident Called By Death

Mrs. Inez Rethwisch, 68, passed away at her home, 114 Twenty-fourth street, Newport Beach, last night. She had been a resident of Newport for the past eight years and of California for 35 years.

Survivors are her husband, Henry Rethwisch; three sons, William and Ernest Rethwisch of Oceanside and Robert Rethwisch of San Diego; and two daughters, Mrs. Irene Woods and Mrs. Dorothy Conley of Newport Beach.

Funeral services will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. at the Dixon-Grauel chapel in Costa Mesa, with the Rev. A. C. Abbe officiating. Interment will be in Westminster Memorial park.

Platt To Face Riverside Charge

L. S. Platt, alias Lloyd F. Ireland, arrested and jailed here November 19 on a charge of issuing fictitious checks with intent to defraud, will be prosecuted in Riverside following prosecution here, it was reported today.

Riverside officers asked Orange county sheriff's officers to hold Platt for them on charges he issued a check without sufficient funds in the bank in Riverside county. Friday in superior court when information was filed against Platt here, the setting of trial date was put over until December 16 at 10 a. m.

FUEHRER JAILED

VIENNA, Dec. 6.—(UP)—A Nazi named Fuehrer was removed from his post as manager of a bread factory on the charge that in order to win the friendship of girls he created easy jobs for them.

Joseph Buerckel, Nazi leader for Austria, ordered that Fuehrer be dismissed from membership in the Nazi party and that his case be investigated with a view to possible prosecution.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with astringent and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pen and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Dean's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Dean's Pills.

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6.—The average studio publicity release contains at least a dozen items about stars embarking on sideline businesses, ranging in character from big time real estate juggling to glass coffin factories. Nine times out of ten, the enterprise flops. Johnny Star winds up with a bad headache, while the smoothie who promoted him manages to save a personal profit from the stars, having been badly burned too often, now retain business managers who protect them from themselves.

Nothing could be more natural than an actor's yearning to invest in some sideline—unless it's the subsequent failure. In the first place, the actor knows that his screen career is uncertain and that if he is lucky enough to continue in grease paint for years, his earning power will decline with every added wrinkle. In the second place, the drama of being a big business man appeals to his imagination. Unfortunately, the most dramatic enterprises proposed are the ones he usually chooses to angle and Johnny Star is not cool-headed enough to put them on a sound basis.

You've heard a lot about the desperate financial condition of many of yesterday's biggest stars—people who earned as much as a million dollars in their screen heyday. Not one in ten is broke today because of extravagant living. Poor investments are responsible—poor investments and the actor's emotional streak which always makes him a sucker for every glib talker, who only needs backing to make a million.

North Flower Street Project Authorized CITY. WPA TO SPEND $11,309

Widening of North Flower street by new construction on the west side from Eighth to Washington streets will begin in a month as the result of action taken by city council last night in approving final plans which provide for use of WPA labor and some WPA materials.

The project, costing a total of $11,309 including payment of wages, provides for increasing the 30-foot width of the street to 40 feet including a three-foot parkway and adding a four-foot sidewalk.

A concrete gutter 18 to 24 inches in width and the remainder of the street constructed of asphalt is provided.

Plans and specifications for the project as a WPA job were approved by council six or eight months ago. Now WPA authorities report they are ready to go ahead by January 15. City Atty. Lew Blodgett agreed he would have the necessary right-of-way for the widening by January 15.

WPA will provide $5918 of the cost of man-power plus $48 sacks of cement to be used in gutter construction; the city, or sponsor, will provide $5391 for materials of which $3600 worth is for asphalt which is to be bought from the city's share of state quarter-cent gasoline tax funds.

At the November 21 meeting of council, the planning commission supported request of petitioning property owners and recommended to council that Flower be paved as soon as funds are available, between Washington and 17th. That recommendation now is under councilmanic consideration.

Special entertainment has been arranged by the committee in charge of the affair and the public is invited to attend.

California Citrus League Protest Against 'Weight Table' On File

The California Citrus league, including citrus fruit growers of Orange county, protested to the Interstate Commerce Commission today against use of the increased weights of citrus fruits proposed by the railroads in calculating freight rates.

The California growers contend that the commission examiner investigating the petition of the railroads for use of such weights, refused to permit vital evidence to be entered into the record.

Double Allowance The evidence is that California growers have been paying a double allowance on the cost of hauling ice in the bunkers of cars.

The original line haul rates for citrus fruits, the commission was told, contained an allowance for the hauling of ice. This original allowance was never removed from the rate structures after refrigeration of cars was installed, yet a similar allowance was included in the refrigeration charges on citrus fruit.

Plan of Carriers The league is using this argument as one of combatting or overcoming the railroad's increased freight rates.

Under the plan of the carriers, standard boxes of oranges, lemons and grapefruit would be increased in weight, respectively, as follows: 78 to 84 pounds; 84 to 87 pounds; 68 to 75 pounds.

Carload freight charges on oranges would be jumped from $51.71 to $55.07; on lemons, from $484.28 to $501.57; and on grapefruit, from $446.11 to $492.03.

LEGISLATORS HEAR OFFICIAL REPORTS

November financial reports of four city officials were received by city council last night and referred to the finance committee for checking.

Business of collecting fines in city court has fallen off for November, last, as compared with figures for November, 1937, and October, 1938. The total amount of money for fines taken in November, 1938, was $2438, City Judge J. G. Mitchell reported; that compares with $2717 for November, 1937, and $2512 for October, 1938. Fines for November, 1938: November, 1937, and October, 1938, respectively, were assessed as follows: Traffic, 101, 207, 102; liquor, 84, 64, 96; other misdemeanors, 13, 13, 7; city ordinances, 68, 53, 57, and total, 266, 342, 261.

Amounts are shown Report of Harold Rasmussen building inspector, shows he issued 131 building permits in November for a valuation of $132,935, collected $393 as permit fees, and issued 24 plastering permits for $108. Electrical Inspector W. O. Packard issued 94 electrical permits, collected $219.80 in fees, and Plumbing Inspector H. O. Crowe issued 68 plumbing permits for a valuation of $11,632, collecting $175 in fees, and issued 18 sewer permits at $1 each.

County League Defers Session

Added work during the Christmas season was given as reason for cancellation of the December meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities, according to a letter from Secretary Albert Launer to city council last night. Launer said President M. M. McCallen, mayor of Huntington Beach, had agreed to the cancellation. The executive committee will meet the second Thursday of January as usual while the next league meeting also will be held in January.

KIWANIS CLUB CHORUS TO LEAD NEXT YULE CONCERT SATURDAY

Promising to duplicate the stately beauty of Saturday night's concert, broadcast over the city to inaugurate the holiday season, is the program to be given next Saturday night under the sponsorship of Kiwanis club, and with Whitford L. Hall as director.

These Christmas concerts are the city's gift to the community, and are planned under the general chairmanship of Leon Eckles. He has received fine cooperation from various civic groups whose programs will be presented on December 10 and 17 and nightly throughout the week preceding Christmas day.

Other Musical Triumphs While the Kiwanis chorus will provide various numbers Saturday night under Whitford Hall's direction, there will be other musical events on the hour of music appropriate to the season, including the string trio from Elwood Bear Violin school, Valeska Porter, violin; Anna May Archer, cello and Margaret Davies, piano; a soprano solo by Miss Margaret Elmsler; tenor solo by Marquis Hare; arias from Handel's "Messiah" sung by the combined Junior and Junior High choirs of First Presbyterian church; saxophone solos by Lester Phillips, and piano solos by Art Cannon.

Widely Varied Program Mrs. Esther Shields, accompanist for the Kiwanis chorus, and Pauline Graaf Rhoades will be accompanists on the program. The personnel of the Kiwanis Male chorus, responsible for the program, is made up of Messrs. Paul Elmsler, Jerry Hall, Marquis Hare and W.B. Martin, first tenors; John Harvey, C. E. Hawk, Carter Lane and Dr. G. Emmett Rait, second tenors; David Carmichael, G. W. Leive, J. B. Price and Dr. Cassius E. Paul, baritone, and W. D. Baker, Ernest H. Elmsler, W. Roy George and Charles E. Walker, basses.

The program like that of last Saturday night and the ones yet to come, will be broadcast from the First National bank in the early evening shopping hours.

RELIEF BODY TO MEET

Monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Crippled Children's Relief Association of Orange county will be held at noon on Friday at the Bit O'Scandale cafe in Fullerton, it was announced today by Miss E. Kate Rea, president.

SEEKS FORECLOSURE

The Pacific States Saving and Loan Association today had filed suit in superior court against P. Talbot Hannigan and Glades C. Hannigan, to establish and foreclose a street bond lien of $201.99 against property in Newport Beach.

Driver Ticketed On "Stop" Failure

Found to be a passenger in an automobile driven by John Munoz, 907 Stafford, Sunday afternoon, Domingo Lopez, 21, 1024 Lincoln, was arrested by Officer Chet Gross on a drunk charge. Although Munoz was pronounced sober, he did not fare much better than Lopez. He was ticketed for failure to make a boulevard stop, driving without operator's license, driving with faulty brakes and with a faulty steering wheel. Police declared the car was unfit to drive and confiscated it temporarily.

EXPECT RAIN THURSDAY!—FOR EASTERN STAR CONVENES THEN

If it doesn't rain Thursday evening, a percent of five years standing will be broken.

Rain has fallen for five consecutive years, at least in the vicinity of Orange, when members of Scepter chapter O. E. S. have chosen a December date for installation ceremonies.

Ready To Accept Some of the women are almost ready to accept the theory that Thursday is a "Jonah" day as is popularly believed to be the case.

At any rate that the second Thursday in December has been a "Jonah" night for them since 1933 so far as installation gowns and evening wraps are concerned, they will agree readily.

Make Preparations

Scepter chapter members are not leaving anything to chance and raincoats and umbrellas are in readiness to assist them in making a dash from the curb to the shelter of the stairway of the Orange Masonic hall Thursday.

If the heavens do not open Thursday and rain does not cover the face of the earth at least so far as Orange is concerned, tradition is going to be shattered.

Former Local Resident Dies

Mrs. Stella Robertson, about 49, former Santa Ana resident for several years, but in recent years a resident of Torrance, passed away yesterday. Her death occurred in a hospital where she had been taken seriously ill several days ago.

Mrs. Robertson, who had many friends in Santa Ana, had been ill since January of this year, at her home. She is survived by her husband, Henry Robertson; two daughters, Mrs. Thelma Whitacres, Torrance, and Miss Edna May Robertson of the home address in Torrance, and one son, Charles Robertson, also of the home address.

Funeral services will be held at the Lameta funeral chapel, Lameta, Thursday at 2 p. m.

Speaker Traces Labor Accomplishments of Past Century

With a comprehensive survey of the labor movement and its accomplishments over the past century, William J. Hobbs of Long Beach, speaker last night for Business and Professional Women's club, stressed the opportunity now facing labor, and told of possibilities of meeting that opportunity.

It was the month's first program meeting for the club and opened with the customary dinner session in the Doris Kathryn with Mrs. Edith Thatcher presiding. Announcements were made of Christmas Los Angeles district Christmas meeting Saturday afternoon and evening, December 10 at Westwood Community clubhouse; of the Institute of World Affairs in Riverside Mission Inn December 11 to 15, and of the local club's Christmas party Monday night, December 19.

Introduction of the evening's speaker was made by Mrs. Laura McNaught, program chairman who spoke of his business and of his position as treasurer of Toastmasters International, in tracing his research in the field of labor. Hobbs gave an example of this research by telling of the first major legislation of labor a century ago, when the 10-hour day campaign was successfully accomplished. Fifty years later, the then-revolutionary 8-hour day was achieved, and today labor is attempting to introduce into the next session of Congress, the 6-hour day law in effort to meet an unemployment situation as great today as it was at the peak of 1932. Safety laws and educational programs likewise have been championed by labor and the speaker emphasized the importance of the Wagner act.

Deploping the differences between A. F. of L. and C. I. O. when both are working towards a common aim, he nevertheless declared that every step that labor advances is towards the betterment of the entire nation. That labor must vote its convictions as they are experienced and not through coercion, was one of his points, but he emphasized the necessity of education within labor's ranks, and a training for leadership which is necessary to overcome the fourth-grade intelligence rating which the laboring class, which makes it a fertile field for radical leaders. With wise and educated leaders, it is his belief that the forward march of labor is limitless.

Among guests sharing the interesting evening were Mrs. Ruel Loucks, Mrs. S. B. Marshall, Miss Ethel Proeschle and Miss Beryl Hatch. Before the meeting closed, invitation was made from the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of First Presbyterian church, for clubwomen to join with other city service clubs in attending 5 o'clock vesper services next Sunday afternoon in First Presbyterian church where Dr. Elam J. Anderson, president of Redlands University, will be speaker.

"Teens-Age" Birthday Happily Observed

Those joys which young people in the magical "teens" know in birthday celebrations were shared Saturday evening in the Howard Curran home, 1909 Heliotrope drive, where Miss Bernadine Curran was hostess to a group of young girls in celebration of her birthday anniversary.

There were games, a wide variety of entertainments and there was the exciting interval when Miss Bernadine was surrounded by her friends as she opened one be-ribboned gift package after another. And then to climax the merriment was the refreshment hour with its candle-light birthday cake served with ice cream and other dainties. With a birthday anniversary falling in the Christmas month, it was appropriate to plan party decorations and favors in the Yuletide theme, with scarlet candles and red-berried shrubbery used in profusion.

Sharing the evening with the young birthday celebrant were the Misses Pauline Kiech, Betty Platt, Betty Jones, Beth Thorndike, Bonnie Lewis, Beverly Harris, Janet Coffing, Janet McFadden, Barbara McFadden, Sara Burkett, Irya McCoy, Maxine Hillyard, Louise Kenyon, Frances Nall, Marilyn Bear, Marilyn Grenwald, Doris Luke, Jean Hunter, Peggy Paul, Mary Adelaide Henderson, Eloise Revill, Margaret Lockett, all of this city, and Audrey Rice of San Marino.

Buffet Supper Marks Birthday Anniversary

Celebrating the birthday of Mrs. A. R. Marshall, a group of relatives and friends assembled Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ritter, East Seventeenth street.

A family group had planned for the serving of buffet supper early in the evening. Red and white was the motif observed in appointments at small tables where guests were seated for this opening feature. Chinese checkers were played. Present were Miss Emma Ritter, Los Angeles; Miss Cappy Ritter, Miss Lila Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Newcomer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Elliott, the A. R. Marshalls, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Ritter, this city, and H. A. Ritter, Tustin.

Book of World Travel Is Introduced at Section Party

Those years of intimacy experienced by members of Elbel First Travel section, one of the first established study sections of the society, always result in an especially happy meeting during the holiday season. This rule held true yesterday when Mrs. George S. Perkins received the group in her home, 2415 Riverside Drive.

The friendly cheer of the season was reflected by the home decorations, and especially effective were flower arrangements for the interval during which a Christmas luncheon was enjoyed. Mrs. Perkins chose scarlet hibiscus as best exemplifying the Yule colors, and had the blossoms arranged in shallow bowls and trays with charming effect.

Prettily wrapped gift packages were exchanged after luncheon and then members began reading the fine travel book, "The Lost House of Mystery" which they will complete at their monthly sessions. Enhancing interest in this book of world travels, is the fact that its author, E. Alexander Powell, is a cousin of yesterday's hostess, Mrs. Perkins.

Mrs. H. Clement Dawes was down from her Los Angeles home to share yesterday's party pleasures with the hostess, Mrs. Perkins, Mrs. Lincoln J. Carden, Mrs. William M. Smart, Mrs. E. B. Smith and Mrs. George S. Smith, section leader.

Wilson P. T. A. Board Entertains at Dessert Bridge Event

Grade mothers and teachers of Wilson school were guests of the P. T. A. board last week when a party was given in the school kindergarten room, which presented a colorful appearance with bouquets of chrysanthemums and cotoaster.

Following the serving of dessert, games were in play. Mrs. A. R. Miller and Mrs. James Truitt won prizes for their high and low scores in bridge; while Miss Johanne Eilers and Miss Fern Tedrow were rewarded for high and low scores in Chinese checkers.

In the hostess group were the president, Mrs. Q. Turner, and Mesdames W. Lowrance, J. C. Johnson, L. H. DeFel, D. B. Carmichael, W. D. Ball, Forest White, Alex Rez, F. G. Hanson, A. E. Chast, Emmert Lippincott, Scott Graves, C. M. Gilbert and Claude Neer.

Grade mothers present were Mesdames A. R. Miller, Courtney Chandler, E. R. Skaggs, Marcus Lassiter, W. G. May, in the group of teachers were the Misses Fern Tedrow, Claudia Robinson, Florence Messamer, Frances Corson, Johanne Eilers, Sophie Hopland and Mesdames Frankie King and Ted Blanding.

You And Your Friends

Mrs. George Hoffman and son, George Hoffman Jr. of San Diego were in their former home city of Santa Ana yesterday visiting with friends. They reported that their husband and father-in-law, George Hoffman, who underwent three major operations this summer at the Mayo Brothers clinic in Rochester, Minn., is recuperating nicely in San Diego.

Mrs. Hannah Anderson, 309 East McFadden street, is reported to be seriously ill at her home, to which she returned recently after three weeks in St. Joseph hospital.

The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, 2404 Santiago avenue expects to leave today for Twenty-Nine Palms for a few weeks' stay. Although he has been ill with influenza, he is reported getting along nicely.

Mrs. W. E. Sandstedt of Bellingham, Wash., left last night for her home after an overnight stay in the home of her cousin, Mrs. H. J. Zabel, 506 East Washington avenue. The visitor had been spending some time in Casa Grande, Ariz., and in San Diego.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. E. Rasmussen, 712 South Barton street have returned from Palm Springs after a week's vacation.

Mrs. Roy Burns, 1333 South Broadway is home from Palm Springs where she spent the past two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dugan of Orange, who are at the resort for the winter. Mrs. Burns has been recuperating from an operation which she underwent early in the season. She returned home with her husband, who spent the weekend at Palm Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Lee Smith Jr. and little son, Lee III have moved from 431 South Flower street to 1234 South Rose street, where they have been joined by Mrs. Smith's father, D. W. Miller who arrived recently from Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill of Santa Paula spent Sunday with Mr. Hill's mother, Mrs. S. C. Hill, 116 West Twentieth street.

Dr. Mabel Vance Tremain, 420 West First street, spent Sunday at Twenty-Nine Palms.

Forming a dancing party dancing at the Beverly-Wilshire in Beverly Hills Saturday night were Miss Yvonne Blank, Miss Barbara Crawford, Miss Dorothy Gowdy, Lucien Wilson, Ed Bragg and Kenneth Van Druff. The young people took part in a benefit dance given by Los Angeles alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kahler, 1512 Dresser street and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hadley, 604 West Fifth street spent the week end in their cabin at Cedar Pines.

Mrs. Artie Walton has moved from 616 North Van Ness avenue to an East Fourth street address.

Mrs. Lynn Ostrander, Tustin avenue, returned Sunday from a two weeks' stay in Kansas. She visited in Bennington with her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Hinchman, and in Salina with Mrs. C. McPherson.

Local Group Attends Girl Reserve Area Conference

Girl Reserve area conference held Saturday in San Pedro attracted a large group of Santa Ana Girl Reserves and a little party of special guests, including Mrs. John Tessmann of this city, who conducted one of the open forums of the conclave.

Santa Ana girls, led by the general secretary, Miss Marjorie McCulloch, were in charge of opening and closing features of the conclave. Main speaker was Wellington Pierce, Los Angeles sociology professor, whose talk followed the conference theme, "How can we face life squarely and find and give the best in our social relations?"

Local Girl Reserves attending were the Misses Eugenia Bond, Shirley Mattinson, Lily Yoshimi, Majel Michel, Roberta Corcoran, Jordis Gold, Betty Jo Froeschle, Phyllis Brockbank, Barbara Briscoe, Jessie Esparza, Suzie Morales, Annie Cazares, Della Murrillo.

Mrs. W. E. Dixon, member of the Girl Reserve committee, and Miss Helen Fine completed the group of Santa Anans in attendance.

Central States Lend Program Idea For P. E. O. Group

Continuing their study of the United States, members of chapter GJ P.E.O. met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. S. Thomson, East First street. The hostess' sister, Mrs. William Carter of Pico joined in entertaining.

Following the serving of luncheon, business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Russell Caldwell. She turned the program over to Mrs. Edward Klatt, who had arranged a feature on the "Central States". Mrs. Clarence Safley discussed the cultural background of the central states.

Mrs. H. M. Curry mentioned as interesting personalities claimed by the midwest states, William Allan White, great newspaper man; Robert Maynard Hutchins, educator; and Bess Streeter Aldrich, author.

Mrs. Thomson contrasted the central states of the early days with the midwest of today, telling of her recent trip to points of interest. Mrs. Klatt brought the program to a close with a summary of the day's subject.

"Pioneer Christmas" will be the subject for the next meeting, December 19, when Mrs. Klatt will be hostess.

Birthday Celebrant Feted By Club

Mrs. Oscar Kurtz, who will celebrate her birthday on Christmas Day, was feted by Gab 'N' Stitch club members at their latest meeting in the home of Mrs. C. W. Hannah, 410 Cypress avenue, Pointsettias and red apers were included in appointments.

Decorated birthday cake was placed before Mrs. Kurtz, who had the pleasure of serving the confection. She received a remembrance from the club. Exchange of Christmas gifts took place around a Christmas tree.

Present were Mesdames W. P. Plummer, Emily Pyle, C. E. Theat, Erroll Barnes, William Kintz, Oscar Kurtz and the hostess, Mrs. Barnes, 629 North Van Ness avenue, will entertain the club Jan. 6.

TURTONS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. John Turton, 1325 Martha Lane, have returned from a week's stay in the north, where they attended Highway Patrolmen's convention in Sacramento. Others attending from this vicinity were Norman Heftner, this city; Herman Lentz of Anaheim and Charles Wolf of Costa Mesa.

En route to Sacramento, the Turtons stopped in Fresno for a visit with their cousins, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Blecker. In Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Turton were guests of former Santa Anans, Sergeant and Mrs. Floyd Toder. Before returning home, the vacationers spent some time in San Francisco.

Friends Are Received For Dinner in A. I. Mellenthin Home

Sunday evening, always a popular time for intimate entertaining, brought a friendly group of guests together in the home of the A. I. Mellenthins, 2340 North Park boulevard, where the hosts had planned a delightful turkey dinner as a pre-holiday affair.

The approach of the Christmas season dictated the use of bright Yuletide colors in candles and flower arrangement of the dinner table where places were indicated for Mr. and Mrs. Mellenthin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cline of Monrovia; Judge and Mrs. Frank C. Drumm, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen, and John ("Jack") Samways Jr. of Altadena, fiancé of the hosts' daughter, Miss Betty Mellenthin, now occupied with her studies at Colorado College.

Church Societies

Kings Guard

First Methodist Kings Guard held election of officers yesterday afternoon in the church social hall. Miss Gracie Howland was chosen president to succeed her sister, Miss Flora Margaret Howland, who will act as advisor to the new staff.

Installation will take place Dec. 19, when a Christmas party will be held. Taking office with the president will be Maxine Hall and Sally Towle, vice-presidents; Doris Marie Barton, recording secretary; Beverly Snow, corresponding secretary; Nancy Towle, treasurer.

Patsy Billups conducted candle-light stewardship ritual. Patricia Ann Ball was initiated into membership. Maxine Hall was in charge of a program of Christmas carols and piano numbers given by Patsy Billups, Flora Margaret Howland and Doris Marie Barton. Maxine also took part in this feature. Joanne Spencer took the group on an imaginary airplane trip to Camp Bell Settlement House in Gary, Ind.

Under direction of Mrs. J. S. Metzger, a membership poster was started as a new project. Mrs. H. I. Tway and Gracie Howland served refreshments.

LONG FEAR JUSTIFIED

ESCONDIDO, Cal. (UP)—Harvey Rainer hated and feared automobiles. He called them suicide wagons. In preference Rainer pedaled a bicycle "for safety's sake." Now he's dead from injuries suffered after 40 years of accident-free cycling. At the age of 81 he was struck by a car.

Angel Island Project Stressed At D. A. R. Meeting

Devoting the greater part of the time to the Angel Island project which is a part of the D.A.R. program, members of Santa Ana chapter D.A.R. met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George Bond, 507 East Myrtle street.

Contributions for the Angel Island Christmas box were collected during the afternoon. Announcement was made that Mrs. J. H. Nicholson, a past regent of the chapter, who is state vice chairman of the Angel Island committee, will be one of the speakers at the next meeting of D.A.R. Southern council. This will be held January 17 at Los Angeles Friday Morning club.

Speakers at Monday's meeting was Mrs. H. D. Newkirk of Anaheim, who gave an illustrated talk on "Cathedrals of Europe." Mrs. Mary Tanner of Anaheim played piano solos during the formal program, as well as during the tea hour later in the afternoon. Mrs. Newkirk, Mrs. Tanner and Mrs. W. E. Foote were guests.

Mrs. Cotton Mather, regent, was in charge of a business meeting during which Mrs. E. C. Prunty of this city and Mrs. L. C. Kirkles of Laguna Beach were taken in as new members.

Hostesses with Mrs. Bond were Mesdames E. D. Holmes, E. A. Baird, Alice Hill Hatch, J. L. Mitchell, John Clarkson and J. W. Simpson. Mrs. Clarkson and Mrs. H. W. Guthrie poured tea, officiating at a table spread with an Irish lace cloth. Red tapers gleamed on a Christmas centerpiece of heather and nardana.

Announcement was made that the chapter will present flags to members of the naturalization class December 14 at 10 a. m. in the courtroom.

Next meeting of the chapter will be held Monday, January 9 at 2 p. m. in the home of Miss Effie Douglas, 626 North Broadway.

"Goodfellows" Of Detroit Plan For Silver Jubilee

DETROIT — (UP)—The Detroit Old Newsboys Goodfellow Fund will celebrate its silver jubilee this Christmas and to celebrate the event a book, "The Story of the Goodfellows," has been written.

Copies of the book are being mailed to managing editors of newspapers all over the country to acquaint other communities with the work of the charity organization.

It was 25 years ago that the late James Brady conceived the idea of raising funds to insure the needy children of Detroit a Merry Christmas by organizing a group of men who as boys sold papers in downtown Detroit. The idea was for them to resume their old corners at a stated period just before Christmas and sell papers to all who passed, naturally refusing any change.

The idea caught the popular fancy and today the Goodfellow Fund is an agency that works the year around and makes itself responsible for raising $150,000, which cares for the needs of 65,000 poor children in the metropolitan area of Detroit.

The origin and development of the movement is traced in the book, written by Ernest P. LaJole, a former circuit judge and a practicing attorney in Detroit who has been one of the prime movers in Old Newsboys Goodfellow movement for many years. It is his hope that the movement will spread throughout the country.

Lack Of Money Causes Quarrels

TRONTO, Ont. (UP)—Money, good housekeeping, tolerance and love are the keys to happy married life, Marjorie Moore, Toronto family court investigator, believes.

She said lack of money was the chief factor that led to family quarrels. Other factors, she said, included nagging and poor housekeeping of wives, failure of husbands to take their wives out more often, and bad tempers.

In Bolivia, natives wear hats made from tree bark, which is soaked in water and then beaten until pliable.

1939 Woman's Almanac Has Material of Wide Interest

An interesting publication which has reached the Register office, is the 1939 copy of The Woman's Almanac, just off the Quagga Press, Inc. of New York.

This book, for and about women of the United States is edited by two newspaper women, Antoinette Donnelly and Alice Archibald, with Florence Brobeck as research editor. Despite the fact that they are all New Yorkers and the book is published there, California and her women are most generously treated as is the coming date International exposition in San Francisco. Five full pages are devoted to the exposition and to some of the prominent California women who are assisting in its plans.

Pictures of several of these are shown, including that of Mrs. Hazell Pedlar Faulkner, director of the Women's board for the exposition; Dorothy Wright Liebes, who is in charge of the decorative arts exhibit of the fine arts department, and the three sisters, Margaret, Esther and Helen Bruton who have painted the great mural at the exposition.

Consistent with the almanac idea, are pages of information regarding moon phases, holidays, seasons, birthstone data and astrological predictions. But there are dozens of other subjects of feminine interest. Theaters, movies, opera and radio; articles on beauty and health; vocational guidance ideas; needlework and cooking ideas and best of all, biographical sketches of women who have succeeded in widely varied trades and professions.

Golden State Members Hold Gift Exchange

Their annual Christmas party was a very enjoyable occasion late the past week for Golden State Luncheon club members who held a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Jennie Tulene, 1316 King street. Mesdames Ruth Lohmann, Vera Pope and Della Bush formed the hostess group with Mrs. Tulene.

During a business meeting held immediately after luncheon, decision was reached to change the meeting date to the third Wednesday of each month. The exchange of pretty gifts followed, and the rest of the afternoon was given over to Chinese checkers and to fancywork.

Special guests were District Deputy Lenore Fletcher of Long Beach; Mrs. Tulene's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Garnet Tulene, Mrs. Jennie Harley and Miss Alvena Harley. Members present were Mesdames Lena Pope, Minnie Norman, Neva Weckley, Maxie Wilson, Muriel Hanson, Alice Dean, Martha Martin, Louise Serger, Pearl Carr, Smith, Enola Moore, Marjorie Boyd, Annie Trumbull, Agnes Nelson, Trina Johnson, Marianna Johnson, Lena Chapman, Isabel Chapman, Louise Gorman, Viola Adams, and the hostess quartet, Mesdames Tulene, Lohmann, Pope and Bush.

Birthday Date Given Happy Observance

Adding another to the pleasant observances of birthday anniversaries at the Sheltering Palms, 605 West Second street, was the affair planned by Mrs. M. A. Knox in compliment to Mrs. A. M. Trickey.

The ringing of the dinner bell called the merry group together for a special fried chicken dinner whose dessert course included a decorated birthday cake to be cut by Mrs. Trickey. She was greeted by the cheerful chorus of "Happy Birthday to You," sung by assembled members of the household. A shower of birthday cards was one of the features.

Present were Miss Clara Bleasner, Los Angeles; Mrs. Arthur Steward, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Charles Maag, Orange; Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Pomona; and Mesdames U. J. Engelman, Thomas Glesler, Clyde Ashen, William H. Harry Edwards, Miss Nellie Colombini and the hostess.

California Federation Of Clubwomen Holds Board Meeting

California federation of Women's clubs has just concluded a successful executive board meeting at Glenwood Mission Inn, Riverside, with Mrs. Duncan Stewart Robinson of Riva Vista, presiding in her capacity as federation president.

Not only was each district federation represented by its president, but there were several county federation presidents in attendance, including Mrs. Richard G. Miller of Huntington Beach, president of Orange County federation. Sessions were dedicated to world peace and understanding as a tribute to the Mission Inn and its founder, the late Frank A. Miller, whose life was dedicated to peace.

Each district president reported steady increase in membership in her individual district, including Southern district with which Santa Ana clubwomen are affiliated and whose president is Mrs. David A. Fraser of San Diego. Announcements were made of the re-appointment by the general federation of Mrs. W. A. Burke of Hollywood as chairman of the West Coast Motion Pictures Reviewing committee; the appointment of Mrs. Wm. Waller Slayden of Highland Park, a past state president, as emblem chairman; and Mrs. Louis J. Gillespie, state chairman of Indian Welfare, as chairman of Zone 2, comprising California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

Mrs. George F. Bunnell of Redlands was named the federation's official representative at the Institute of World Affairs to be held in Riverside December 11 to 16.

Before the board meeting closed, the clubwomen adopted a resolution to combat any force that would destroy religious freedom and free speech, and sent copies to President Roosevelt, Senator Hiram M. Johnson and Senator-elect Sheridan Downey.

Club Drama Section Has Study Program

Plays and book reviews in wide variety heightened interest in last night's meeting of Woman's club section with Mrs. William E. Dennis, 322 Louise street.

Plays reviewed were "Breakfast" discussed by Miss Lula Walker, and Noel Coward's "The Rosebush" by Mrs. L. L. Beeman, county chairman of drama, and one of the evening guests. Books on the program were those dealing with the drama in some form, and chapters were read aloud. Mrs. E. M. Waycott had "Play Production," Mrs. G. E. Arterburn had "The Amateur Actor," and Mrs. L. G. Holman, "What Your Voice Reveals."

At the program's close the hostess served refreshments during a social interval shared by those of the program with Mesdames M. O. Wells, A. C. Keck, G. F. Hulse, Arthur Eklund, William Kuhn, H. R. McVay and a little group of special guests, including Mrs. L. E. Tarbox, Woman's club president; Mrs. Earl Lepper and Mrs. E. Walker of Oakland, here as a guest in the home of her daughter, Mrs. McVay.

Y. L. I. Past Leaders Have Holiday Party

Holding their annual Christmas gift exchange members of Capistrano Y. L. I. Past Presidents club were guests last night in the home of Mrs. Robert Sandon, 1410 West Washington avenue, where dinner was served.

A silver Christmas tree studded with gumdrop fruits centered the table, which was lighted with red tapers. It was decided to have the next meeting February 13 in the home of Mrs. Arthur Steward, Huntington Beach.

Present were Miss Clara Bleasner, Los Angeles; Mrs. Arthur Steward, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Charles Maag, Orange; Mrs. Ethel Johnson, Pomona; and Mesdames U. J. Engelman, Thomas Glesler, Clyde Ashen, William H. Harry Edwards, Miss Nellie Colombini and the hostess.

At Birthday Party

Miss Lois Mary Floyd, who was eight years old Sunday, and her brother, Walter, whose tenth birthday was Monday, celebrated the two natal days at a merry party Saturday afternoon at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen O. Floyd, 810 West Second street.

Walter and his friends spent the afternoon at a local theatre, returning to the home to join his sister and her friends at the close of their season of games. Mrs. Floyd's mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Perdue and Mrs. R. L. Johnson, and Mr. Floyd's mother, Mrs. Mary Floyd, assisted during the afternoon.

Varied candles and holders decked the two white-frosted birthday cakes which were served with jello. Small tables suggested the approach of holiday time, with snappers and red and green nut cups filled with candies, as favors. Napkins and other appointments furthered the seasonal motif.

Guests were drawn from Lois Mary's and Walter's third and fifth grade classmates at McKinley school. Invited were Dianne and Suzanne Duke, Helen Sargent, Barbara Miller, Maggie Jean Carpenter, Jerry Nail, Charles Mills, Clifford Cairns, Harold Sargent, Lynn Crowley, Harold Sargent; with the celebrants' cousin, Master Bobbie Jellison.

Bachelorettes Hold
Annual Dinner Party

Bachelorettes held an annual dinner party Saturday night when Miss Dorothy Rosenbaum was hostess in her home, 1224 West Second street. A snow scene and red tapers added to the charm of the dining room table setting.

New club pins were distributed to the members during the evening. A drive to Long Beach followed the dinner.

In the group were the Misses Lorie Buell, Helen Crowther, Evelyn Groover, Betty Harris, Gladys Johnson, Jeanne Linschard, Dorothy Rosenbaum, members; with a visitor, Miss Groover's guest, Miss Patricia Chestnut of Phoenix, Ariz., who since has departed for her home.

Dinner Bridge Party
Given in Loerch Home

One of the pleasant events of the weekend was a dinner party at which Dr. and Mrs. A. K. Loerch Jr. entertained in their home, 2648 North Main street. Bowls of yellow chrysanthemums added to the charm of small tables.

Table prizes in bridge were won by Miss Marian Saunders, Dr. Joseph O. Costello and Jerry Vernig. Guests of Dr. and Mrs. Loerch were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Vernig, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hatch, Miss Dorothy Hatch, Dr. Joseph O. Costello, Miss Marian Saunders and John Farrar, this city; and Mr. and Mrs. Nello Zava, Laguna Beach.

Hosts for buffet supper next Sunday night at the club will be Mr. and Mrs. Fernandez and the Ben Ostermans.

Mixing Bowl
BY ANN MEREDITH

Personally, I like a fruit cake that is not too rich, so you may be interested in what I evolved from an applesauce cake recipe for Thanksgiving Day. The recipe is versatile . . . plain, it makes a fine spice layer cake . . . with the addition of a few raisins, you have cup cakes that are more than good . . . the addition of fruit, candied peel and lots of walnuts makes the mild-mannered fruit cake we like in our house. Here is the recipe.

Apple Sauce Fruit Cake
Mix 1-2 cups very thick apple sauce

2-3 cup strong hot coffee
1-2 teaspoon soda dissolved in coffee
1-4 cup butter and 1 cup vegetable fat creamed with
2-1-2 cups white sugar
1 teaspoon, each, cinnamon, cloves, allspice, nutmeg and salt, creamed with butter mixture
3 egg yolks beaten into creamed part

4 cups cake flour (sift first) sifted twice with
3 level teaspoons baking powder
3 or 4 cups of raisins
1 pound mixed diced candied fruit and peel
2 cups of broken walnut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 egg whites beaten stiff

—My tested recipe
Assuming that you have done all of the creaming and that the egg yolks have been beaten into creamed part, mix batter by alternating apple sauce mixed with hot coffee, and the sifted flour. When the butter is very smooth, add floured fruit, nuts, etc., all mixed together, the vanilla with the fruit, and lastly, the beaten egg whites cut and folded into the fruity batter. (Allow a good half cup, extra, flour to dredge the fruit.)

I used one long loaf tin and one tube cake pan and made a "test" by baking eight small cup cakes for dinner dessert. The long pan was lined with buttered paper. The baking time was one hour, oven rather slow after the cakes had finished rising. When cold, they got a libation of sherry before going into the air-tight cake box. Four days "aging" made this cake moist and of delicious flavor.

If you have a man in your family who needs to lose weight, by all means send for the Calory List and give it to him. I'll tack on the new list of alcoholic drinks. In exchange for the Calory List you are asked to contribute something of your own and to send along a stamped, addressed envelope.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Economy Pot Roast of Beef
With Noodles

5 pounds of solid beef from neck
2 pounds thin sheet suet
Onion, celery and parsley
1 bunch new carrots, sliced
1 package broad egg noodles
Salt, pepper, etc.

—Our tested recipe.

Rub the piece of meat with dry mustard, salt, pepper and garlic salt. Flatten out (or cut) the suet to form a sort of blanket for meat. Tie it securely in the fat and braise in potroast kettle with onions, celery, parsley and seasonings. Add a little water after 30 minutes, cover and cook very slowly about 4 hours. Take up, unwrap from fat, skim broth and strain. Return meat to broth with sliced parboiled carrots and noodles, cover and simmer until done. Thicken gravy.
This delicious cut of meat slices for a cold plate with salad, for another meal.

SERIAL STORY

LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JUDY ALCOFF—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.

DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.

JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.

MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday: By accident, Dwight meets Judy again, relates his troubles, how Cary Tennant dated, kissed, and married her. The talk is painful for Judy, still torn by her old love.

CHAPTER XXV
"ANOTHER man's wife!" The words drummed in Judy's brain. She stared at Dwight. Had he actually said that? Did he realize what he was saying? Why, that meant that Cary Tennant had dared—that Dwight had seen him, kissing Marvel.

She remembered the time she and Diane Bell had glimpsed Marvel and Cary Tennant in that downtown San Diego restaurant. Cary's hands had been so close to Marvel's, almost caressing her fingers. The smile that had shone in Marvel's eyes—the unaccountable, the incredible air of flirtation there had been between the two of them. She and Diane had called themselves cats, Judy remembered. Cats for being suspicious. And yet—they had been right. Except that then Marvel hadn't been Mrs. Dwight Campbell yet. She had merely been engaged. But to be engaged is almost the same . . .

Anew, Judy seemed to hear the voice of Cary Tennant, as she had heard it that night at Marvel's housewarming. She and Jack Hanley, standing close together. "Marvel's just having a little fling," Cary had said. "It won't last long." He had been jeering. With such an attitude toward her marriage, with so obvious a disrespect for her Navy husband, no wonder he made love to Marvel!

DWIGHT was saying, "I couldn't make Marvel see it my way, Judy. She kept insisting that she must be allowed to keep her old friends. They understood her, she said. My friends were impossible. She hated them! She said she hated the Navy! And I always knew—I couldn't help seeing—that in Marvel's old crowd, a little philandering doesn't matter. They expect it. It's the only fun they have! None of them work—more money than they know what to do with—Why, Judy, that party on Cary Tennant's yacht was—wasn't decent!"

Judy knew what he meant. Cocktails to excess, and laughter to excess. Wild dancing—heedless gaiety. Today we live and tomorrow—the deuce with what happens! All she could find to say was, "I'm sorry."

"That might have blown over," he said thoughtfully, as if he were speaking his thoughts aloud, counting them over more to himself than to her. "We might still have made a go of it if it weren't for all her money. Money! And I thought money might be a help . . . She wanted to buy Paris clothes, travel in the most luxurious way. Whenever I said I couldn't afford a three hundred dollar gown, or twenty-five dollar hats, she always flung back that I couldn't stop her from spending her money. She was used to running around—extra fare trains, the smartest nightclubs, the right resorts in the right seasons—I made me feel cheap because I couldn't go, or pay her way."

"Yes, I see. A girl who has been accustomed to so much money—it would be hard for her to live on a Navy budget."

"Yes, I know. But just the same— He hitched in the seat. His face was drawn. He said at last, tiredly, "Well, it's over. Marvel left me no doubt about that. She's going to Reno. Probably in Cary Tennant's private car!"

"Maybe it'll blow over," Judy said, trying to sound cheerful. "Maybe Marvel will change her mind." She asked herself inwardly why she was bothering to comfort Dwight, why she was defending his disloyal wife. Marvel Hastings wouldn't have defended Judy.

"In a way," said Dwight, setting his jaw. "I don't want it to blow over. All these scenes, and so many things interfering with my work on the ship, are making hash of my career. She came right on board, and she—we—"

For a moment they both sat in silence, and then he said heavily, "If she wants a divorce, I won't stop her. I can start over. She wasn't cut out to be a Navy wife."

"I'm so sorry—" Judy said. Her hands were tightly clasped. He turned toward her with weary appeal. "I don't know why I—I thought I could ever make her over. People never make other people over, do they? You're a typical Navy girl. Everything a man in the service needs. I knew that. Yes—" Then he said, "I was a fool. I—I didn't realize that—I hurt you, too. I didn't mean to. But I—I was so blind."

"No," said Judy in a strangled tone. "No, Dwight. You—you never hurt me. You mustn't think so. I—I'm fine!"

His hand touched hers. "Don't, Judy. I know. I tried to pretend to myself that all those dates of ours were only friendly. I told myself a man can't love two girls, and I was crazy about Marvel. But it was an infatuation. All the time I knew you were sweet and good and what I wanted. But I couldn't rid myself of the crazy way I wanted her."

So had it been with herself, she knew, with sinking heart. Jack Hanley was kind. He was sweet to her. Good. Straightforward. Everything she ought to want. But she had never been able to rid herself of the crazy, crazy way she wanted Dwight. Even sitting here beside him—even listening to his voice speak of Marvel—

"You shouldn't be talking to me like this," she managed to whisper.

His eyes were very honest. "Why shouldn't I?" he demanded. "It isn't too late to make things right. Is it, Judy? Is it?"

HER own eyes dropped before his.

"Yes, it is," she said in a low voice.

"No, it's not!" He was sure! "You've been hurt, I treated you terribly. But I know that before I told you about her, you must have thought I—that I—cared about you. That's true, isn't it? Oh, it must be true! You were so white about it. So brave and clean! You're a thoroughbred. The way you took my change of heart proved it. But Judy—" Now his face was close to hers, his arms were making a little, hesitant motion toward her. "Judy, we can still pick up the pieces. Salvage a little happiness for ourselves."

Her heart leaped, denying the pride she ought to strengthen herself with. But her pride was there. It was part of her. It was an outraged pride, hurting bitterly. She said swiftly, "What makes you think I want to pick up the pieces, Dwight? No—" she pushed at him gently. "Don't put your arms around me. You're so sure I've cried over you! Let me tell you—I haven't! Let me tell you something else you don't know! Now she was triumphant, glad to be hurting him, glad to be avenging her pride. His white, stricken face only made her speak more hurriedly. "I've always been good friends with Jack Hanley. You must know—for years he's been the dearest friend I had. But I guess you didn't know, Dwight, that I—that I'm engaged to him!"

She looked into his eyes steadily. Her will, strong as steel, forced the tumult inside her to ebb. To leave nothing but this sweet feeling of having paid him back for everything he had done to make her suffer. "I'm going to marry Jack Hanley, Dwight. We're to be married just as soon as he gets out of the hospital!"

Fund Solicitation Plea Is Denied

Application of the American Rescue Workers, Inc. for permission to solicit funds once a month in Santa Ana by use of tambourines, was denied by city council last night. A report by Councilman Plummer Bruns who was absent from the meeting, was accepted.

He is chairman of the standing committee on such applications and recommended against granting the privilege. However, Phil Brown, secretary of the Business Men's association, also entered a report stating that the granting of such a permit would be contrary to the association's policies. The applicants, Commander L. E. Satterfield and Mrs. Ruby Satterfield, operate a mission at 1612 East Fourth, Los Angeles.

Among the new story books is one I like hugely. It brings a new boy friend to the circle of American boys and girls. He is truly an American boy, who was born in this country, who grew up right in his own village, one of the crowd. You'll like Jerry of Seven Mile Creek. You just can't help liking him. Knowing him is going to be a treat for any boy or girl who can read.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

"PRODUCTION TODAY DOESN'T LACK CAPITAL"

A correspondent who believes that purchasing power can be increased by the Townsend Plan, contends that "production today does not lack capital."
If the correspondent means that we have enough capital whereby all people could go to work with the capital we have, we agree with him. But, if we want a higher standard of living for all people and we want to support a larger population, the country does lack capital.

The reason people are not working now is not because of lack of capital, as the contributor says. It is because of interference with free exchanges. Some production and services are interfered with by laws and by customs and by pleasant illusions; namely, tariffs, collective bargaining, prorate, arbitrary taxes, the Wagner Law and the Minimum Wage Law. All of these interfere with free exchanges.

The correspondent is of the opinion that consumption entirely governs production. But we have no trouble at all to get people to consume. That is not the problem. It is to get those people who desire to consume to produce something other people want and are willing to trade to get. It is the lack of ability of certain groups to produce things that are exchangeable that is causing the unemployment and the lowered standard of living.

This Townsend advocate is of the opinion that purchasing power can be increased by taking, by taxation, from one group and transferring this purchasing power to the Townsend group. It is true that this might change the nature of the purchasing power but it does not increase the purchasing power one iota. In fact, it lowers the purchasing power because it stops the accumulation of capital, which is necessary to make it possible for all people to produce more, which is necessary in order to consume more.

The contributor is correct in saying that distribution is necessary in order to have consumption and when any group prevents a free exchange of the comforts of life, they are interfering with distribution and, consequently, interfering with consumption. And the contributor is right by saying that distribution includes transportation and selling organizations, which includes advertising.

It is the interference with free exchanges that is causing the trouble in the distribution system. The young people and those people out of work would be able to secure jobs and produce something that other people wanted, if it were not for the artificial interference as above mentioned.

I know of no one who is not willing to consume more and I am sure the contributor knows of no one who is not willing to consume more. So, we do not need to stimulate consumption. We need to correct the interferences that stop the natural and equitable distribution and this can only be arrived at, so far as I can think, to the degree that we establish a free market. Under it any man who thinks some other person is getting too much for what he produces has a right to try to produce it for less. And any combination that prevents this, interferes with the fair distribution.

I would like to believe that the question was so simple as the transferring of purchasing power from one to another would increase the total purchasing power, but my experience and reason prevents me from so believing. I must face the stern facts that there are very definite causes that prevent business from functioning. And these interferences cannot be corrected by taking from one group and giving it to another group as the Townsend Plan would do.

The sooner we can get the public to understand that these pleasant illusions will not work, the sooner we will be in a position to correct the interference with free exchanges and thus, the sooner we will be in a position to have good jobs for everyone who wants to work.

The contributor seems to realize the necessity of smoking out these people who are advocating things in order to make themselves important before men, or to promote their own financial interest. There is nothing more important than arousing the people to the menace of this kind of a person.

UNION PENALIZES WITNESS

As an example of the power and unfairness that collective bargaining invariably goes to, the expelling of Ralph Knox by the automobile workers union, for a period of not more than 99 years, coincident with his testifying before the Dies Committee, is a splendid example of the tyranny that collective bargaining goes to when it establishes a monopoly. It reminds one of what Henry Ward Beecher said years ago—that "organized labor is the worst form of despotism ever devised by the human mind."

And, by the way, those advocates of collective bargaining who contend that people who see how it reduces wages for the people as a whole, are opposing collective bargaining because they do not want to pay the temporarily increased wages, might explain why Henry Ward Beecher made this statement. He certainly was not opposed to it for that reason.

a democracy in which Socialist parties only collaborate with capitalism."

Mr. Saposs, New Deal economist, adds that if Socialism fails through political action, "then the workers must unhesitatingly resort to organized force."

SCREENED (Ohio State Journal)

As a means of self-preservation, a dictator has to keep his subjects in ignorance of what is going on at home and, to a major extent, abroad. Everything they get must have an infusion of propaganda. Not satisfied with controlling the press at home, however, the dictator reaches out or tries to extend the censorship to the newspapers in other countries. This is done by expelling from the country foreign correspondents who write anything that does not suit the dictator's approval. The correspondent's work in Italy, Germany or Russia, live constantly under the threat of expulsion, if not worse. Scores of writers have been forced to leave Germany because they wrote the truth. Italy has been just as bad in this respect.

(L. A. Examiner, By Benjamin De Casseres)

Premier Neville Chamberlain said the other day: "I have the good fortune to be able to count upon the assistance of a lady whose affection and understanding have for many years made all my troubles seem light."

"She has shared all my plans; she has been privy to all my secrets; she has never divulged one. "She has rejoiced in my successes, she has encouraged me in my disappointments, she has guided me with her counsel, she has warned me of dangerous courses, and she has never allowed me to forget the humanity that underlies all politics."

"Can you conceive of a European or Asiatic dictator saying that? YOU CAN NOT!"

EDITOR REGISTER—I have read with great interest your published letter from Mr. J. E. Prentice to Mr. Teague in your issue of November 28th.

Mr. Prentice sounds to me like one of the boys who has been sitting back waiting for "George" to do it. You know the kind—don't let me pay anything for advertising—etc. etc.

To me Mr. Prentice knows as much about the California Fruit Growers' Exchange as he does about Coca Cola and the Oil Companies and that is "nil."

If Mr. Prentice knows all the answers—like he appears to think—why does he not set up his own selling organization with his 300 acres of oranges—plenty to begin with—I would say—include on the side a coca-cola department and a gasoline station and clean up a few millions. In this bright manner he will make a sucker out of the 14,000 orange growers in the Exchange who have been asleep at the switch during the past five years. I know lots of the Exchange boys and packing house boys who would be glad to throw in with him to get a good salary and a large bonus. I might also mention the fact that some of the esteemed profession he labels as "Dr. Quack" might be interested in his pipe dream. Perhaps a shot of orange juice in the "coke" might bring in a few million—or vice versa. (You got something there brother.)

I would suggest to Mr. Prentice in all earnestness to make a point of going down to the Exchange offices in Los Angeles and make himself familiar with the Exchange operations and the efforts it has made on behalf of its 14,000 growers.

Does Mr. Prentice know that the Oil Companies had to get under a pro-rate set up a few years ago to keep from going broke? and that they closed down hundreds of wells.

Now be sensible, Mr. Prentice, publish the returns you get "outside the Exchange" and let's compare them with the Exchange figures. Quite interesting, I will assure you. The production of oranges in California has increased from 6,000 cars yearly to 75,000 within the past several years. Of course it would be foolish to mention in this letter the plight of the wheat farmer, the coffee planter, the rubber plantations, the vegetable growers in California, the poor apple growers up north, or the pear growers, not to mention the auto industry which was so prosperous last year.

No Mr. Prentice, Mr. Teague is right and you are wrong and you know it. Besides it would not be fair to ask you to debate the matter with Mr. Teague or Paul Armstrong. These men have only devoted their lives to the welfare of the orange growers and have built up the best organization of farmers in the world—and that includes any outfit you may be connected with too.

To conclude, when Dr. Quack tells my wife to give my child orange juice he gets it because Dr. Quack knows by years of study what is best for my children and I am happy to pay him for this advice, so he makes a profit off the poor orange grower too.

Did anybody tell Mr. Teague he knew nothing when orange growers were making $1000.00 profit per acre a few years ago and did the growers cry to high heaven about the large pay of the pickers and the poor fruit tramps in the packing houses. Don't make me laugh.

Mr. Prentice you have just got to "take it" until Eleanor Roosevelt gets her stake and the John L. Lewis gang hang themselves.

A friend of mine in the oil business gets $40,000 a year in a comparthe wrong financial and economic system.

Mr. Bouma said that Hawaii will send a committee to Washington to help convince congress that the transaction tax does produce the benefits claimed by the Townsend organization.

The speaker said he saw in Washington, where 20 people were living in one room within a short distance from the immense, beautiful government departmental buildings, I was in Washington when Teddy Roosevelt was inaugurated and saw disreputable looking houses only a block or so from Pennsylvania avenue, probably like Mr. Bouma referred to. Is this "food for thought?"

The Ohio Chamber of Commerce is sending to business men in all parts of the state a letter and five-page folder asking them to aid in promoting "An Emergency Program." In the folder appears the significant statement: "The Townsend Plan is not dead—they are politically powerful."

Mr. Bouma said: "We are thinking of adopting the following slogan: 'We will take money out of Wall Street and make it travel along Main street.'"

The seating capacity of Junior Lathrop high school will be taxed to the limit Friday night, December 9 when Dr. Francis E. Townsend will delight the audience with what they want to know. He has had a wonderful experience since he last appeared in Santa Ana.

VITAMIN D TO BE STUDIED FULLY TO GREAT ADVANTAGE OF HEALTH

Among the most important of the vitamins is vitamin D, the one which responsible for the manner in which the body uses calcium and phosphorus. It is definitely related to the disease called rickets, but it is also concerned with the adequate development of the bones and teeth and with the proper functioning of the body as a whole. It has been exceedingly difficult for scientists to find out just how much each of us requires of vitamin D. The problem is much simpler in children than it is in adults. For children the amount has been calculated very carefully and whether or not it is sufficient may be determined by taking X-ray pictures of the bones. After the bones have fully developed, however, this measure is not available.

With all of the protective foods it is important not only to give the human body an adequate amount but a little beyond that. It is not safe to play along the border of protection. The amount of vitamin D that the body requires is not the same in all cases and, indeed, not the same in every case from day to day. The amount of vitamin D required is definitely related to the amount of calcium that is available in the diet. According to Dr. P. C. Jeans and Genevieve Stearns, the vitamin D requirement goes up and vice versa. This mechanism cannot operate for an amount of calcium that is below the minimum that everyone requires for health.

Furthermore, it is difficult to calculate the amount of vitamin D required because of the sunlight that we receive on our bare skins creates vitamin D and ultra-violet light received in any other way may also have this effect.

For children we know that from 300 to 400 international units each day is sufficient if the child is receiving at least 11-14 pints of milk. For adults the exact amount required has not yet been definitely determined. The problem of the aged is a

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON

World Copyright 1938 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The loud silence from the wage-hour administration lately presages a storm.

Lightning flashes and thunderbolts will be cast by Administrator Andrews, who is now concocting them in the form of test cases—only Mr. Andrews does not call them that. He has been heard to say in several private places lately that he has "some lovely cases."

His several listeners also thought they heard him add these would be "pushovers." A "lovely pushover" prosecution by the government however, is generally indistinguishable from lightning as far as a defendant is concerned, or from thunder from above as far as all are concerned.

While Mr. Andrews' metaphor may be mixed his purpose is not. He is selecting the most flagrant violations and evasions of the wage-hour act to start enforcement machinery. W.H.A. is entering the crack-down phase.

The step cannot be avoided, say the insiders. Complaints are pouring in upon W.H.A. from workers at the rate of 250 a day. With a sharply limited staff, Andrews can hardly read them all carefully, much less have them investigated fully and promptly.

This tremendous volume of protest has led Andrews' associates to believe the law is not very highly respected and not widely observed. The complaints may not all be well founded, but these advisers have been urging Andrews for weeks to toss a few bolts and fear not the dead cats he may receive in rebuttal. Andrews has been holding off only to make certain that he would put his best bolt forward.

One thing is plain. W.H.A. is becoming another NRA. Its widening scope, its problems and effects are similar, thus calling already for similar methods.

Observers are beginning to wonder if the result will be the same.

At the outset Andrews had a difficult time getting employees. He dare not hire men from industry for fear of arousing labor. On the other hand the labor leaders were then pretty well picked over, at least the good ones. Andrews had to be satisfied, in general, with second rate labor men, unused college professors who had not previously received the government call, and government men he could pick up by raiding other agencies.

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—This column first pointed out the difference between the First, Second and Third New Deals. Now Mr. Arthur Hays Sulzberger, Editor of the New York Times, has written a Fourth New Deal in the proposed heavy rearmament program. W.P.A. and P.W.A. spending of billions for relief went political. This began to be so dangerously unpopular that in the last election the "spend and elect" formula failed to click in important instances like Pennsylvania and Ohio. There, through unnecessary millions of relief money were poured in without stint or limit to influence the vote, the effort failed. The voters resented it. The money had been poured down a rat-hole so far as its political purpose was concerned.

It was partial proof of a suggestion this column made three years ago: "You can't beat four billion dollars, but four billion dollars can beat you." Some of the defeated candidates have expressed their belief that political relief spending is dead.

The strength of this Administration rests chiefly on principle, or high purpose. It rests mainly on spending. If the purpose and method of the spending go sour there are only two choices. Stop spending or change its purpose and method. To stop the spending would be suicide. That leaves change from an unpopular purpose and method to a popular one. In view of the world litters over Munich, national defense is the most popular purpose imaginable. The shift of purpose is what Mr. Krock calls the Fourth New Deal.

The purpose is good, just as the purpose of relief is good. The doubtful point is the method. The method of relief degenerated into "playing politics with human misery." Will this vast new spending project of rearmament degenerate into "playing politics with national defense?" It would be equally dangerous.

special one. Elderly people are less exposed to sunlight than are younger ones. Furthermore, they may have been for sometime on diets containing insufficient amounts of calcium. Old people take little milk, and certainly they do not regularly take cod liver oil and seldom go out of doors without hats, gloves and enough clothing to keep them warm. Older people are, therefore, likely to have trouble with their bones. The experts suggest that perhaps the frequency of the breaking of bones and the difficulty of healing in older people may be related to the insufficient amounts of vitamin D and of calcium.

Here is a field in which there is going to be much study in the future and quite certainly to the great advantage of the public health.

Most of the leather for gloves is obtained from sheep skin. Pig, goat, kid, goat, lamb, dog and reindeer skin also are in use for glove manufacturing.

When George Westinghouse invented the airbrake, he wrote to an American railway president, describing his invention. The president scribbled, "I have no time to waste on fools," and sent the letter back.

About a year later the airbrake began to be adopted by American railways. The president who had been rude sent Westinghouse a letter asking him to call.

Westinghouse wrote on the letter: "Neither have I!" and returned it to the president, together with the rude letter.—Montreal Star.

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

Large Names of Officers

Dinner Affair Held by Members of Woman's Club

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Miss June Ragsdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ragsdale, was elected noble grand of the Orange Women's club last night when a meeting was held in the O. O. F. headquarters. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Eva Barnett, outgoing noble grand.

Miss Ragsdale, who has been active in Rebekah work for several years, will be assisted by Miss Ethel Arrowsmith, who will serve as vice grand. Mrs. Fannie Barker will be secretary, Miss Alice Binkley, financial secretary, and Mrs. Ola Harris, treasurer. These officers, who will be installed in January, are elected for six months. Mrs. Abbie Gould was elected trustee for an 18-month term.

Following the business meeting, the members adjourned to the beautifully decorated dining room. Christmas berries were used about the room and on the tables. Cherry pie and coffee were served by a refreshments committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bennett, assisted by Mrs. Matilda Tryke, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Danker. Entertainment after refreshments was dancing and cards, under the direction of Mrs. Puri Shell.

Games Enjoyed By League Group

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Junior League members of St. John's Lutheran church met last night at Walker Memorial hall for their monthly meeting. The assembly was opened by Harry Stock, advisor, who conducted a devotional period. Miss Lucille Drinkers then played a piano solo, a medley of Christmas music.

Miss Harriet Quandt announced that the Southern California Junior League will sponsor a snow carnival at Arrowhead lake in January and all leaguers are invited. Miss Irene Kohls presided.

The Comrades club was in charge of games. Later members and guests were served refreshments. Christmas donations to the Anna mission, recently established by the Lutheran church, were received from the leaguers.

Discussion Held By Forum Group

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—College Age forum members of the Presbyterian church met Sunday night at the home of Miss Mabel Willis on South Main street. "Faith and Self-Reliance" was the topic under discussion. Mrs. B. B. Baines led the forum. After a short social period following the discussion, Miss Willis served delicious cake and cocoa.

P-T-A. Council Meeting Planned

ORANGE, Dec. 5.—The El Modena P-T-A. will be the hostess group with Mrs. Fay Irwin heading the committee, when members of the Orange Community council P-T-A. meet Wednesday night at 1216 1/2 North Main street, following the discussion, Miss Willis served delicious cake and cocoa.

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Entertaining their husbands and a group of friends at dinner, members of the Orange Women's club were hostesses last night at a delightful event which is expected to become a yearly one. The Woman's clubhouse, the setting for the dinner, was decorated with wreaths of cypress and stage decorations were tall vases of cotoneaster.

Greeting guests at the door were Mrs. David French, Mrs. J. Paul, Mrs. A. D. Burkett, Mrs. Frank Collins and Mrs. P. A. Pinson. Mrs. A. Haven Smith, president of the club, presided and welcomed the guests. The Rev. M. L. Pearson gave the devotion.

The meeting was opened with the flag salute. The room was darkened for the ceremony and the curtains across the stage drawn to reveal a charming "Spirit of Liberty" in the person of Mrs. Glenn Allen in a shimmering white satin robe standing in a flood of light beside the American flag. The salute was led by Mrs. Allen.

More than 250 persons were seated at the long tables in the clubrooms. Tips of cypress boughs covered with small brown cones on runners of Christmas snow were placed down the centers of the tables. Miniature street lights holding red, white and blue globes were placed on the runners with figurines of Santa Claus and reindeer.

Dinner was served under the supervision of Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake. The toast to husbands was given by Mrs. Arthur J. Nies, program chairman, and the response was given by Judge Frank C. Drumm, who made a witty rejoinder to Mrs. Nies' amusing speech and who based his talk on "Matrimony."

Program Presented

Donald Krueger, accompanied by Miss Lois Allen, sang a group of songs, "The Green-Eyed Dragon," "The World Is Mine Tonight" and as an encore, "Trees." The program was brought to a close with a one act play, "If Men Played Cards As Women Do," by George S. Kaufman. The comedy roles were played by Roy Willis, Gordon X. Richmond, Dr. Carl Paul and Ralph Shannon.

Announcement was made of the next club meeting December 13 when the Santa Marino Junior play, "The Steadfast Princess" and children of members will be special guests. Announcement also was made of the Christmas party for old people at the Orange County hospital on December 22 at the clubhouse under the supervision of Mrs. Fred Alden.

Dinner Planned By Young People

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Miss Ruth Stone was hostess at her East Walnut avenue home Sunday night to members of the Fireside forum of the Presbyterian church, who were led in discussion by Victor Wells on the topic, "Struggle for Religious Freedom in Germany."

After the forum period plans were completed for a dinner to be held tonight in the lower auditorium of the church when Presbyterian young people of Orange county will gather for a 6 o'clock dinner. Howard Barnes, of Orange, is chairman of the league. Music will be furnished by a quartet composed of John La Monica, Everett Ristow, John Stoner and Eldon Winters. The Rev. Donald Stewart, university pastor at U.C.L.A., will be speaker.

Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas banquet of the young people's department. Eileen McCollum will be general chairman of the affair, which will be held at the church, December 27. The chairman of the affair is Suzanne Clark, program; Hattie Arends, hostess, and invitations, and Maxine Huber, decorations.

78-Foot Plaza Tree Decorated

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Trimming a Christmas tree is conceded to be quite a task but consider the case of Percy Farmer, electrician, who is trimming what is said to be the tallest Christmas tree in Orange county.

The tree is the star pine at the east entrance to the plaza and the process of hanging lights on the branches of the 78-foot tree is under way today. Farmer worked at the job yesterday afternoon at the tip of the pine when a strong western wind swayed the tree.

The tree has grown nearly four feet the past year. It measured 74 1/2 feet last Christmas. Twelve strings of lights, each 60 feet long, are used to furnish decorations for the giant pine. Other Christmas decorations for the plaza are being placed rapidly.

Card Party Set For Friday Night

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Meeting at the parish hall last night, a group of women of the Holy Family Catholic church made final plans for the card party to be given at the American Legion clubhouse Friday at 8 p. m. Bridge, pinocle and "500" will be in play, refreshments served and prizes awarded.

The Rev. Canon O'Connell, new pastor of the church, met with the group and Mrs. W. J. Rasch presided. New officers of the Altar society are to assume duties in January, it was announced.

Heading the society for the coming year will be Mrs. E. D. Bartlett, president; Mrs. A. W. Mollica, vice president; Mrs. W. J. Rasch, secretary; Mrs. James Paine, reporter. A vote of thanks was extended to Miss Anna Oehlke for her services as president last year.

Church Arranges Christmas Music

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—Trustees and elders of the First Presbyterian church held meetings at the church last night. During both sessions a number of committee appointments were made. Plans were made for services Christmas day when nearly the entire morning service will be devoted to Christmas music for the first time in the history of the church. A choir of 75 voices will be heard.

There will be no evening Christmas service, according to plans outlined, members of the congregation joining with churches affiliated with the Ministerial union in vespers at the First Christian church.

Church To Hold Program Dec. 23

ORANGE, Dec. 6.—An unusual setting has been selected for the Christmas program to be held at the First Presbyterian church December 23. The program will be given in the church patio where a snow scene will be simulated and a huge fire will be roaring in the out of door fireplace.

Spectators are to hear and see the program from rooms facing on the patio and from seats at one end of the enclosure. Bringing in the Yule log will be a feature of the event, to be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnes.

Flies Over U. S.

Stepping from his 672-pound Aerona monoplane, a veritable kiddie car of the air, Johnny Jones, tap-dancing pilot, alights at Roosevelt Field, N. Y., after a 30-hour non-stop flight from Los Angeles.

avenue? Little studies in irony: that rabbit that Chester Morris has been making vanish in his "magic" act has run away—a final disappearance. Bing Crosby's phlegmatic attitude makes him my candidate for the "Last Survivor" club.

Irene Castle's sizzling denunciation of jitterbugging reminds me of some of the things old-time dance experts said about the steps she introduced back yonder. Wonder if John Barrymore's reference to Elaine Barrie as "My Keeper" is as humorous as it sounds? Leo Carrillo reminds me of Cupid in sombrero and spurs. No matter how gawdy the pocket handkerchief, it still rates second billing to Maxie Rosenbloom's ears. Shirley Temple loses that regal strut and becomes just another little girl when she's tired.

It's a pleasure now and then to season this column with an unselfish gesture—and here's one worth reporting. Seems that Charles Boyer's stand-in, one Joe Lynch, was under consideration for a good role in an independent picture. Only one thing was lacking—a screen test. Lynch had never played more than a microscopic bit and had never been tested. The quickie producer, unwilling to spend the money necessary to film a special test, was also dubious about hiring an actor with visible proof of his ability. And that's where Boyer took over. He dug deep, hired a cameraman and a crew, and directed an elaborate test for Joe Lynch. The former stand-in is now an actor.

Had to wait a good ten minutes today at a post office window while Jeanette MacDonald's secretary registered and mailed an armful of assorted envelopes. "Getting your Christmas mailings done early," I suggested—and she grimaced. "Every one of those," she explained, is an original manuscript, sent for Jeanette's criticism by its author. We have to return them all, registered and unopened. If they were not sent back that way, the studio and Jeanette would be open for suit the first time an author detected a fancied resemblance between her screen image and his work. Our postage bill last year, for this one item was $252.

I like Bob Hope's laconic description of those new "dolls' hats" the best dressed gals are sporting. He call 'em "Nothing with a feather in it."

GERMANS KNT NATIONAL TIES

BERLIN, Dec. 5. (UP)—Consolidation of nearly 80,000,000 continental Germans into one "Greater Reich" by Adolf Hitler's two thrusts of 1938 has lent new impetus to the pan-Germanism of the Nazi Party's Auslandsorganisation, dedicated to binding fast to the homeland all its citizens throughout the world.

As German influence spreads and consolidates itself through the Danube basin behind the twin spearheads of the Austrian and Sudeten coups, as the question of Germany's pre-war colonies surges into the foreground, the activity of the organization takes on constantly increasing importance to Nazi foreign and economic policy.

The size of the Auslandsorganisation is a secret. Certainly it runs into millions, here and abroad. Probably it is second only to the mammoth Labor Front, which includes virtually every German worker.

Bohle On Way Up

At its head is Wilhelm Bohle, state secretary, who is generally classed as one of the "coming" younger men of the Nazi party. Some of the best informed observers of German politics believe he is certain, at the moment, of becoming German foreign minister when a successor is needed for Joachim von Ribbentrop.

From Bohle, the organization branches outward and downward through a large central office in Berlin to subsidiary bureaus throughout the Reich, to highly organized offshoots in every foreign nation where Germans live, and eventually down to district and local groups throughout the world, set up like the party's own local units at home.

Its aims have been open to more attack than those of any other Nazi creation. Pan-Germans, however, they are not. They are directed only to Germans. Its members, who not only pay dues but who also work under central direction at specified jobs aimed at strengthening politically, economically, and—perhaps most important of all—under Hitler theory—culturally the threads binding all Germans together.

In essentials, there is no difference in operation between the local group in the Yorkville district of New York City—which is the world's fifth largest German community after Berlin, Vienna, Hamburg and Munich—and the local group in some sweltering harbor on the coast of the Cameroons, where some German banana planters live as remnants of the Reich's empire.

Each group spreads to its members and to other Germans the story of the new Nazi state and its accomplishments, and of German literature, music and cultural lectures and other propaganda means affection for the fatherland is encouraged.

One of the most effective propaganda means has been the annual congress at Stuttgart, which is held just before the Nazi party convention at Nuremberg and which is attended by tens of thousands of Germans from the Reich and foreign countries. The keynote of this year's congress was the pledge that Adolf Hitler's power would guarantee Germans everywhere against oppression, and that those mistreated abroad could find homes and jobs in the Reich.

Only For Germans

Nazi officials insist repeatedly that the Auslandsorganisation concerns itself only with German citizens, never with Germans who have taken other nationality. Organizations like the German American Bund, in the United States, are officially regarded as an acute embarrassment about which Germany can do nothing because their members are foreigners. It is specifically stated that members of the Auslandsorganisation have been instructed never to interfere with the internal affairs of other nations.

It is privately admitted, however, by some people in Berlin, that there have been other branches of no small importance. The reports sent by foreign branches to Berlin are considered of equal importance with those of the diplomatic service to the Foreign Office. Their cooperation in stimulation of trade, and with it economic and political influence, has been constant. Their importance in the "German language islands" of the Balkans as German dominance spreads cannot be underestimated.

There is evidence, but no official confirmation, that the organization was extremely active in Spain before the outbreak of the civil war.

Two Giants Out in 1942

The two 40,000-ton battleships, the King George V and the Prince of Wales, probably will be launched early next spring. They are expected to go into service by 1940. Their three sister ships, the Hood, the Bismarck, and the Tirpitz, are scheduled for completion the following year. All are of 35,000 tons with a speed expected to touch 30 knots and each will mount 14-inch guns. With their huge armaments it is said they will be the most strongly protected warships ever built.

Following are the warships being constructed under the 1935-37-38
